Bill will put 3-year ban on power lines

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

Construction of high-voltage power transmission lines will be banned for three years under a bill to be introduced this week in Springfield.

Co-sponsors are state Rep. Robert Churchill (R-Lake Villa) and freshman state Rep. Al Salvi (R-Wauconda).

Both have plans in their district pending by Commonwealth Edison Co. for high voltage lines.

In both cases residents have voiced concern about the health effects caused by the electro-magnetic fields (EMF). Cancer, notably leukemia in young children, is cited foremost.

Plans for the northern part of Lake County by Com Ed call for a new 138,000 KVV power line from Round Lake Beach through Lake Villa and Loon Lake to Antioch. With 50-foot towers the line would pass within 100 feet of Intermediate School in Lake Villa and 50-feet from some residences along Loon Lake.

Citizens Against Unsafe Electricity (CAUSE) is preparing a court battle to stop the power line.

Antioch named Tree City USA

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

The Village of Antioch received national recognition as it was named a Tree City USA for 1993. This is the first time the village received this honor.

"The Tree City USA honor comes from the National Arbor Day Foundation, a nonprofit educational organization dedicated to tree planting and environmental stewardship," said Antioch Trustee Marilyn Shineflug.

Tree City USA communities receive a flag with the program's logo and a walnut-mounted plaque, according to Al Little, the Environmental Commission Chairman and Co-Chairman of the Arbor Day Committee. Winners will also receive Tree City USA community signs and maple leaf stickers to indicate additional qualifying years.

"Antioch qualified for the honor after meeting the following standards: a village tree ordinance, a legal tree governing body, a comprehensive forestry program and observance of Arbor Day," said Bud Newton, co-chairman of the Antioch Arbor Day Committee.

Antioch will receive its flag at the village board meeting on April 5 at 7 p.m.

"A community's tree planting program is a living memorial to citizens' concern for the quality of life," said Little. "The trees we plant and care for today will cool our cities, fight pollution, conserve energy, and give wildlife a home for years to come."

Antioch will observe Arbor Day on April 24 when area school children and volunteers will be planting trees in Osmond Park.

"We will again give away 1,500 free evergreen seedlings, up to five per person, to any Antioch residents that agree to plant and care for them," said Little.

To order your free seedlings, write to Al Little, Arbor Day Committee, PO Box 288, Antioch, IL, 60002 or call 395-2160.

Riska hopes to serve township

Lakeland Newspapers

Antioch Township candidate Carole Riska believes she can make a difference if elected to the Antioch Township Board because she actually lives outside the village in the unincorporated township.

"I just feel like township officials in the past have forgotten about the residents in the unincorporated areas," said Riska. "We have different needs that village residents. We aren't any more or less important, but just different."

Riska said the differences begin in the distance township residents have to travel to get their daily tasks done.

"No township resident would walk a mile down Rte. 173 to get to the store for something," said Riska. "The township has a program in place to get senior citizens around to the store and other appointments if they can't drive. The problem is that most residents don't know about it."

Riska's campaign almost didn't happen, due to a petition challenge filed by a resident who said that she did not have enough legal signatures on the ballot.

However, the filing date for the objection was missed by almost a week, and Riska's challenge was dropped by the State Board of Elections Court that heard her case.

The objection to my petition was filed six days after the last day of filing," said (Continued on page 9)

Former band director hit with sexual assault charge

Lakeland Newspapers

A former Antioch Community High School assistant band director faces a 60-year prison term if he is convicted of sexually assaulting two ACHS students during the past two years.

James Peterson, 25, of 401 N. Derbyshire Lane in Arlington Heights, was arrested on March 5 by Round Lake Beach Police at the Chicago sporting goods store he had been working at since his resignation from ACHS in January.

Peterson was arrested under warrants issued by both Lake County and Kenosha County authorities.

The Lake County warrant charged Peterson with three counts of sexual assault of a 15-year-old girl between Sept. 1 and Nov. 30, 1992 in his former home in Salem, Wis., and at a friend's home in Round Lake Beach.

The Wisconsin warrant charged Peterson with six charges, including two counts of sexual assault, two counts of child enticement and one count of exposing a child to harmful material. If convicted on all six felonies, Peterson will face up to 60 years in prison.

The Wisconsin charges involve an 18-year-old girl who allegedly had sex with Peterson "numerous" times between May 1991 and Thanksgiving of that same year.

The investigation began after the 18-year-old student told an ACHS counselor about her relationship with Peterson. The older girl is friends with the younger girl and also knew of the 15-year-olds relationship with Peterson.

Peterson resigned from his job at ACHS after he was suspended without pay for evidence found in a month-long investigation by the Kenosha County Sheriff's police.

Spring CAR CARE

How to choose competent auto technicians

The National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE), a non-profit organization was founded in 1972. The mission was to develop a mechanism by which working technicians could prove their competency to themselves, their employers, and to consumers.

Consumers benefit from ASE's certification program because it takes much of the guess-work out of finding a competent technician.

Years ago any mechanic would do because cars were much simpler. With today's complex computer controlled car the margin for error is much less. Mistakes can be costlier. It makes good financial sense to protect your automotive investment through regular preventative maintenance and service performed by certified professionals.

Because ASE's program is voluntary, technicians who have taken the time and expense to earn ASE certification can be counted on to have a strong sense of pride in accomplishment, which should be good news for consumers.

Prior to taking ASE exams many technicians attend training classes or study after work. The time they spend sharpening their skills should be advantageous to consumers as well.

Twice a year at some 450 national test centers, thousands of technicians sit for ASE certification exams. The exams are administered by American College Testing (ACT).

Designed by representatives from the automotive service and repair industry, vocational educators, and ASE's own staff of technical specialists, the exams stress real-world diagnostic and repair problems, not theory. The exams are no cinch to pass; one out of three test takers fail.

Technicians who pass at least one exam and fulfill the work experience requirement earn the title of ASE-Certified Automotive Technician, while those who pass all eight auto exams earn Master Auto Technician status. All ASE technicians are issued personalized credentials listing their exact areas of certification and an appropriate shoulder insignia.

ASE technicians can be found in every type of repair facility including, new car dealerships, independent garages, service stations, tire dealers, specialty shops, and major franchises. There are about 300,000 ASE technicians at work nationally.

Repair facilities employing ASE certified technicians usually display the distinctive blue and white ASE sign and post their technicians' credentials in the customer service area. Employers many times include the ASE logo in their print advertising as well.

Because ASE offers certification in all major technical areas of auto repair, it is wise to ask the shop owner or service manager specifically for a technician who is certified in the areas your car needs repair in.

ASE certifies individual technicians not repair establishments. But it

Technicians can earn ASE certification in eight automobile technical areas:

- Engine Repair
- Engine Performance
- Automatic Transmission/Transaxle
- Manual Drive Train and Axles
- Suspension and Steering
- Brakes
- Electrical Systems
- Heating and Air Conditioning

Plus four collision repair specialties:

- Painting and Refinishing
- Non-Structural Analysis and Damage Repair
- Structural Analysis and Damage Repair
- Mechanical and Electrical Components

stands to reason that shop owners who encourage their technicians to become ASE certified should be equally concerned about the aspects of their business. The following are some tips to help you find a competent repair facility:

•Start shopping for a repair facility before you need one.

•Ask friends and associates for recommendations and consult local consumer organizations.

•Arrange for alternate transportation in advance so you will not feel forced to choose a shop based solely on location.

•Look for a neat, well organized facility, with vehicles in the parking lot at least equal in value to your own and modern equipment in the service bays.

•Look for a courteous staff, with a service writer willing to answer all of your questions.

•Look for policies regarding labor rates, diagnostic fees guarantees, return of your old parts and method of payment.

•Ask if the repair facility specializes or if it usually handles the type of work you need.

•Look for signs of professionalism in the customer service area such as civic, community, or customer service awards, trade school diplomas, certificates of advance course work, and of course ASE certification.

If you follow these suggestions for finding a competent technician and repair facility the chances are very good that you will have a pleasant care repair experience.

Officials give money to lobby Great Lakes

LIBERTYVILLE—Libertyville officials voted to spend over $1000 for a marketing presentation to go before the pentagon in support of Great Lakes. "I'm in complete support of keeping Great Lakes open," DeSanto said. "But it (Great Lakes) has so much public support, by hiring a lobbyist, it's overkill."

Preservists oppose golf course expansion

VERNON HILLS—While the village board and park district moved closer to agreeing on a plan to expand the municipal golf course into Sullivan Woods, an opposition group appeared to be forming. Residents and non-residents spoke at a special meeting urging the preservation of Sullivan Woods as a nature center due to its high-quality wetlands and mature oak savanna. Something the motion didn't include, however, was the amount of money the village will contribute to get the corporation going. Birchard suggested $10,000. YMCA to sponsor nationwide healthy kids day

Kids have brought home a new report card from the American Health Foundation, and their families won't be pleased. This youth health report card gave the nation's children a grade of "C" minus.

The fact is, at least half of all elementary school children are already at risk of developing heart disease because of obesity, elevated blood cholesterol, or high blood pressure. And only 32 percent of children ages six to 17 could meet the minimum standards of a test for cardiovascular endurance flexibility, and abdominal and upper-body strength.

YMCAs across the country will address this problem by holding a national YMCA Healthy Kids Day on March 20. Kids and their families will have a chance to take part in games and fun hands-on activities that will teach valuable lessons about health, nutrition, substance abuse, and physical fitness.

"This day means making a commitment to strengthen your family," said Lynne Vaughan, national health and fitness director, YMCA of the USA. "The family is a powerful influence in developing healthy behavior, self-confidence, and emotional well-being."

As one of the nation's leading providers of youth development programs and child care, the YMCA knows a lot about kids. That's why Healthy Kids Day is designed with both activities for children alone and projects for the whole family. And the kid's activities are planned to fit their level of development. The goal is for the day to help encourage families to adopt a healthier lifestyle.

Gourmet touch to camp meals

Ideas to lift camp meals into the gourmet status.

•Add a dash of herbs and/or wine to a favorite casserole. Or top with a packaged cheese sauce and croutons.

•Add a little homemade garlic/herb butter to meats, vegetables, baked potatoes, and French bread.

•Making biscuits, pancakes, cobblers, quick breads, cinnamon rolls, and more are easy with a good baking mix. Take along extra-good syrups and jams.

•The addition of some of the following can add zest and flavor to ordinary meals: thyme, marjoram, basil, oregano, chives, nutmeg, cloves, ginger, cinnamon, seasoned salt.

Beef and chicken bouillon granules, dried minced onion and garlic, a seasoned mix for fish, or coarse ground black pepper.

Case workers help clean-up cocaine families

by RHONDA VINZANT
Lakeland Newspapers

Mary Pat Maddex, Child Welfare Specialist for the Department of Children and Family Services in the Waukegan Field Office deals with the care and treatment of drug affected children daily.

Office statistics indicate that for the year 1990, 33 children were born in the county addicted to cocaine, the figure held true in 1991 and decreased to 27 in 1992.

However, the statistics may not accurately reflect the number of babies born with drugs in their system because only children whose mothers have been flagged by a call to the drug hotline, who exhibit obvious signs of cocaine addiction or who received little or no prenatal care are generally tested for the presence of drugs.

"In each verified case the mother must go to a counseling or rehabilitation program," said Maddex. "The mother is evaluated by a case worker who also talks with family members to determine her condition and the risk factors of keeping the child in the mother's care."

Mothers are assigned to rehabilitation programs that are both in-patient and out-patient, some lasting for several months at a time.

Maddex said that in about half of the reported cases, the baby does go home with the mother with Lake County Courts filing jurisdiction on all babies born with a positive toxicology.

"If the mom wants help and admits to drug use and family members are willing to help her, she normally keeps custody of the baby," said Maddex. "However, if mom fails to follow through with the court order for counseling and rehabilitation she can be held in contempt of court and the baby removed."

The decision to allow a mother who has exposed her child to health risk during pregnancy to have custody of her child is often a difficult one.

"We know that the first nine months of the bonding process is crucial to the emotional development of the child," said Maddex. Experts believe, when a child is placed in foster care while the mother gets better there is the potential that the baby won't know the mother when they are reunited. Many feel this leads to further emotional trouble as the child matures.

Once a cocaine baby and its mother are released from the hospital and sent home, the Lake County Court System keeps jurisdiction on the child from a period of six to twelve months.

"Newborns are seen by a case worker on a weekly basis," said Maddex. "After the first few months, the visits are required at least monthly."

The visits come in the form of scheduled and non-scheduled trips to the family home. Visiting nurses from Lake County and "homemakers" will also make periodic visits to check on the welfare of the child. The homemaker assists the mother in obtaining public aid and in parenting skills. Random urine drops to ensure the mother stays "clean" of drugs can also be ordered.

Cocaine addicted babies are known to have the potential to suffer from several medical conditions. They are more prone to die from Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS), experience tremors, they aren't easily comforted, don't generally sleep well and the development of motor skills is usually delayed. There is also an increased risk of seizures and strokes.

One way that local child welfare authorities are approaching the task of teaching mothers to care for the infants is through a program titled AIMS- Addiction Intervention Maternal Support.

Grandma hopes to prevent cocaine babies

by RHONDA VINZANT
Lakeland Newspapers

Mary is a forty-something grandma that knows all too well how the cycle of substance abuse can eat away at the fabric of a family relationship.

A recovering alcoholic, sober for 12 years, she can trace the multi-generational substance abuse problems in her family back four generations and forward at least one.

Mary is a grandmother of a "cocaine baby." Lake County statistics indicate that more than 30 babies are born yearly in area hospitals addicted to this powerful drug. But, even Department of Children and Family Services personnel agree that those statistics may be far less than the number of real cases being born, because unless the child or mother exhibits signs of addiction or are reported to be cocaine addicts, testing is not routinely done on infants at birth.

"The question I keep asking over and over again is how can this drug be so powerful that the pregnant mother would not be able to stop using for the sake of her unborn child," Mary said.

She had confronted her 22-year-old daughter on several occasion during her pregnancy to inquire as to whether or not she was still using cocaine. "She'd look me right in the eye and deny it," the mother said. Like many mothers, Mary continued to deny the signs of addiction she saw in her daughter. "She was very convincing," Mary said.

Mary would be confronted with the truth when her grandchild was born and both the baby and mother had positive toxicology reports for cocaine.

"I walked into the hospital and found my daughter higher than a kite," Mary recalled, tears streaming down her face. "I blame myself and my addiction for what has happened to her."

Following the baby's birth, Mary's daughter was required to attend a four-day in-patient treatment program for cocaine addiction as well as routinely attend out-patient counseling sessions.

But, Mary feels the requirements are not stiff enough and that follow-up is not specific or regular enough to evaluate drug addicts and their ability to carry for children.

Today, Mary's relationship with her daughter and grandchild is strained due to the continued use of cocaine by her daughter and her live-in boyfriend. Mary has had to threaten to take the couple to court and sue for grandparents rights in order to see the child.

"She can't con me anymore," said Mary. "I know what is going on."

The baby, now several months of age is growing slowly, as many cocaine addicted infants do. Mary worries about the child's ability to thrive in the home environment and the long-term effects of being exposed to cocaine in the home.

Mary's wish is for her daughter to find help and get clean and for her grandchild to grow up in a safe environment. But, she knows that can only happen when her daughter decides to get help.

"Right now, I hope that learning about this situation can prevent another child from being born addicted or another mother from taking drugs while she is pregnant," said Mary, wiping her tears. "I don't want anyone to go through the pain me, my daughter and my grandchild are suffering."

Let's Play Bingo

A big thank you to Antioch Moose Lodge for not discontinuing its bingo on Wednesday afternoons. This is the only enjoyment many seniors have because they are afraid to go out at night. Help support this endeavor by this lodge. More of you seniors who have nothing to do on Wednesday afternoons, come play bingo with us. It's a lot of fun.

Build Antioch

We hear the Round Lake is getting another shopping center. What about Antioch? All we have here are expensive stores which most of us cannot afford to support. Give us a chance. We'd certainly support a big K-Mart, Wal-Mart, Venture.

This Is What You Do

I read in your paper of people parking in handicap parking spaces. I called the police and I was told to take the license plate number and send it to the Secretary of State. The police said they can't do anything.

What Movie Theater?

Maybe I need glasses, but I've got a question. We've looked at some of the new model homes going up and in their brochures, they advertised the shopping, churches, schools and movie theater. I'm reading the paper and it says we have all these food stores, hardware stores and movie theaters. If I'm not mistaken, we have an empty movie theater still standing. Why doesn't somebody open that thing. Antioch has one still going. Why doesn't somebody open a movie theater that you're advertising in all your things, bragging about Round Lake.

Applause To Students

My applause goes to people who are forming a cultural awareness club at Libertyville High School, which was noted in the Feb. 26 issue of your paper. I'm so proud of these students who have the foresight, compassion and courage to start this club. Being a Caucasian married to an African-American with children, it is certainly our desire to see the world live in harmony as we do, and see past the racial barriers. Again, thank you for your efforts in bringing our community together. I'm from Mundelein.

It's Outrageous

I'm a resident of Round Lake and I just read that outgoing teachers and administrators are getting enormous increases in pay, just before retirement. This will cost the school district about $300,000, which is supposed to be paid this year. I think this is absolutely outrageous. It's outrageous that the school board voted this in. We have to speak out about this.

Sorry For The Cancellation

We apologize to the person who called the Fox Lake Community Center regarding the cancellation of the pancake breakfast on Feb. 21. We're sorry we could not control the snowstorm that visited Fox Lake that weekend. However, we are looking forward to seeing you at our rescheduled event, March 21. Hopefully we will have sunny skies and warm spring breezes so we can fulfill our goal of helping provide funding of continued operation of the community center.

Inconsiderate Snowmobilers

This is to you, snowmobilers, the most inconsiderate breed of people around. Do you know the meaning of private property, no trespassing, no snowmobiling, fences, gates, private residences? Obviously not! Would you like to repair ripped apart fences, churned up driveways and pitch in to pay private property taxes as long as you think you can use private property for personal pleasure?

Dead Town Attraction?

I'm from Fox Lake and I understand that Fox Lake is trying to attract some attention. The fact is, Fox Lake is a dead town. What I suggest is we provide an area where we have the world's largest collection of dead people. If your going to have a dead town, you may as well have a lot of dead people. Perhaps that will get a lot of notoriety and attract people who would like to live in a dead town.

Who Controls Spending?

I'm from Round Lake Beach and I would like to know why the school district gave raises of more than $73,000 to five administrators who are voluntarily retiring this year. They are asking us to vote for a referendum this April, but they are not wisely using the money they have. Is it our responsibility to make sure these people get more money after retiring than some of us make when we are working?

Vandalism Is Not Funny

This is to the persons in Round Lake Beach who thought it was fun breaking Christmas light bulbs on my driveway. Maybe you'll think twice before doing it again when you are the one picking glass fragments out of the snow so your kids will be able to play in the (Continued on page 26)

Measles vaccinations needed by Aug. 1993

All kindergarten through eighth-grade students, according to a July 1993 state law, are now required to receive a second measles shot by the start of school in August. Students not in compliance will be excluded from school. The vaccine may be given as an MMR (Measles, Mumps, Rubella) or a live measles virus. Either is acceptable under the mandate. Area school officials advise parents to get their children immunized as soon as possible to avoid the last minute school rush.

SWAT to seek energy business incentives

Lakeland Newspapers

The Start Working for Antioch's Tomorrow party, who met residents at the Oakwood Knolls Township forum on March 10, will begin discussions with Commonwealth Edison to learn what the utility can offer business that would locate to Antioch.

Mayoral candidate Larry Hanson plans to meet with Edison representatives on how Antioch could benefit from rarely publicized incentive packages Edison could offer business to stay or relocate to Antioch's business area.

"We want to meet with them to learn about what Edison can do to help us entice businesses to our industrial park," said Hanson. "We are not saying that past actions by Edison or the village board caused businesses to leave, but we want to ensure that the future for Antioch will be economically sound."

Hanson believes that the village should look at all possibilities to ensure the village will be able to attract business to its industrial park.

One of those possibilities could be receiving electric power from Wisconsin Electric. Hanson said his party has been in contact with Wisconsin Electric on the feasibility of connecting the industrial park and even village residents to that power source.

"We feel it would be a substantial breach of public trust not to at least investigate the possibilities of getting power from another source."

If Antioch received power from another source, according to Hanson, it could charge business and other customers as much as 40 percent less than they are now being charged by Edison.

"The drawback is that Antioch would have to become a public utility and manage and fund the venture," said Hanson. "But, if we were able to claim lower electric rates to a prospective business, either through Edison or another source, then we would have the advantage in landing them in our village."

The goal of Hanson and his SWAT part candidates is to provide Antioch power customers with the most cost effective energy possible. Hanson believes that could come from Edison after discussions develop, but he remains determined to find a viable package to entice new businesses to Antioch's industrial park.

Seminar would address ecosystem restoration

Restoring the ecology of the Fox River and Chain O'Lakes will be the topic of a seminar from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Wednesday, March 24 at McHenry County College's Conference Center.

Dr. Steven Apfelbaum, an ecologist from Broadhead, Wis., will speak about "Ecosystem Restoration and Stormwater Management," with particular emphasis on how changes to the original landscape of the Fox River valley have increased flooding, accelerated soil erosion, and degraded water quality of our rivers, lakes and wetlands.

The seminar speaker will explain how efforts to restore natural ecosystems can address these water quality problems while providing habitat for wildlife and greater diversity of plants and animals.

Apfelbaum is a private consultant in-involved with many ecosystem restoration projects, including the 660-acre Prairie Crossing Development in Grayslake, a national model for development that integrates agricultural land uses, natural prairies, wetlands and savannas, housing, offices and retail stores into the design of the project. He has also studied more than 500 wetlands in McHenry County to compile data on endangered and threatened species for the Illinois Dept. of Conservation.

The seminar is sponsored by the McHenry County Defenders, a local environmental group that has worked for more than 20 years to restore the Fox River and Chain O'Lakes. The seminar is open to the public. A donation will be requested at the door to help cover rental of the conference center. For more information about the seminar, call (815) 338-0393.

Martini charges incumbent with unfair play at meeting

Antioch Township Supervisor's candidate Judy Martini is charging that Incumbent Supervisor Jim Fields tried to persuade voters in Lotus Shores subdivision to vote in favor of the proposed riverboat gambling site by offering them sewer service.

"I was shocked to hear Jim offer sewer lines for votes," said Martini, who attended the Lotus Shores homeowners meeting. "I figure it will cost the taxpayers between $24,000-$45,000 to hook up a sewer line. I don't see the casino paying its fair share."

Fields was not available for comment to Lakeland reporters before Lakeland's publication.

Lizard writes of retirement from column

Successor

Since I derive so much personal enjoyment out of writing this column, my preferred plan in the scheme of things is to stick around and continue doing so for several more years, i.e. Lakeland and God willing. However, if and when I get to the point where I run out of personal experiences and cute stories to share and/or get to the point where I am not involved enough to bring special town happenings to your attention, I have already lined up a possible successor to continue writing this or a similar column-once again, Lakeland willing.

My chosen successor shall remain nameless for the present time. My only clue will be someday you may be calling in your special tidbits to "The Woodchuck" rather than "The Lizard". Sounds good to me and it definitely has a catching ring to it. Let's try it out "Remember to ask for The Woodchuck". Yep, I like it. However, Woodchuck, remember I am not ready to throw in the towel as of yet. Just remain patient and available.

Thanks

On a recent Thursday afternoon, little Stevie Bryson wanted his mom to spend the afternoon with him at Camp Crayon. It didn't take me long to put her to work cutting up construction paper for our special project. When we assembled in our pledge/activity circle, "Miss Sue" joined us. I included her in my head tapping routine pointing out to the little ones that she definitely knew her right hand from her left. When it came time for the children to glue all of those small pieces of construction paper onto the master sheet of white paper, I encouraged (okay, ordered) Sue to feel free to join in. It didn't take her long to locate a bottle of glue and walk happily among the little ones squeezing out the sticky white liquid as needed. It never occurred to me that she may have preferred to watch from a distance.

Now I have learned something new about myself, I'd make a wonderful drill sergeant!!

Thanks for helping, Sue. I hope I didn't work you too hard. I know the children definitely had fun getting to know Stevie's mom, because several of them have inquired "Where's Miss Sue", since your visit. Once again, thanks for helping.

Phobic friends

Live snakes were part of the Grass Lake School second grade science fair entry. This prompted a conversation between two mom friends, Jeanne Lehman and Cindy Marquart. Jeanne told Cindy of her intense fear of snakes. A short time after the science fair, Jeanne stopped by to visit Cindy at her home and found her in turmoil. Cindy had a spotted spider and was at her wits end on how to kill or remove it from the premises. Jeanne quickly came to her rescue and disposed of the eight legged varmint. So now both ladies discovered something about each other-Jeanne had a snake phobia and Cindy a spider phobia.

However, when little Jessica Lehman arrived at Chris and Thomas Marquart's house to play, shortly thereafter, she brought along a plastic margarine tub containing a spider. Cindy quickly informed Jeanne to beware. Seems like Cindy just may encourage Chris and Tom to bring a plastic tub containing a snake during their next visit to the Lehman household. Cindy believes in the philosophy that one good turn deserves another!!

Let's play

I noticed little Kira Haley sitting by herself during our Thursday afternoon session at Camp Crayon. She is normally a "social butterfly" and very bubbly and outgoing. This time she looked sad and lonely. I inquired "What's wrong Kira?" She replied, "No one will play with me."

After I suggested a few possible playmates, whom she said had already refused her companionship, I suggested myself as a playmate. "I'll play with you, Kira." She perked up for a moment and was slightly tempted to take me up on it. She politely responded, "I want to play with the little kids." I told her I was a big kid who liked to have fun.

She contemplated my remark and was soon off to mingle with her peers definitely deciding "a kid at heart" wasn't exactly what she had in mind on this particular occasion.

Lotus School

The following Lotus students were honored by receiving achievement awards in the following areas: "A" Honor Roll: Hillary Fry; "B" Honor Roll: Zachary Bock, Emily Boomfield, Justin Cone, Melissa Irocky, Jamie Lindsey and Derek Sloan; Principal's on-a-roll: Matthew Allard, Jacqueline Bauer, Emily Boomfield, Justin Cone, Jennifer Dowdy, Cassandra Fornear, Hillary Fry, Gerry Peczowski, Derek Sloan, Richard Smith and Jamie Lindsey. Justin Cone was also selected for the student of the month.

Forest School

The following Forest students were chosen "Most Improved" students of the month-Spring Evans, Stephen Chevny, Jayrd Jensen, Jessica Mennella, Kimberly Tonyman, Randy Pedrosa, Jerred Bernardy, Makell Meyerin, Joe DeCaro, Adam Evans, Crystal Crawford, Brad Brinegar, Kody Karczewski, Mary Henning, Jasmine Langford, Derrick Lemke and Melissa Dumivent.

Friendly faces

During our lunch break from the Camp Crayon program, we usually dine at the Las Vegas Restaurant. Due to our frequent visits, the waitresses and hostess naturally recognize us on sight. We are quickly escorted to our "favorite" booth and efficiently served.

It is always nice chatting with the waitress on duty and three of them are known to us by name-Shirley Vaughn, Maria Bruha and Frankie Wanke. We are often afforded the pleasant opportunity of chatting briefly with people that we know such as John Ruffin, Rhonda Zegler, Dolly Haling, Jean Haling, Barb Lass, Claudette Skvarce, Bernice Campbell, Grandma Lawrence, Pat Santiemmo and Tony Santiemmo.

Remember the rule, when I give you a special hello mention in the column, you must call me with a special tidbit.

GLS kindergarten

If your child will be five years old on or before Sept. 1, 1993, he/she will be eligible to attend kindergarten at Grass Lake School for the 1993-94 school year. Kindergarten registration/sign up will be held at Grass Lake School on March 16, from 9:30 a.m. till 2:30 p.m.

A birth certificate and proof of residency in the district must be presented at the time of registration. Also, medical forms will be issued to the parent or guardian at the time of registration. These physical examination and immunization forms must be completed before the kindergarten will be permitted to enter school in the fall. The kindergarten screening will be conducted in August and the school fees will also be collected at that time. For further information regarding the Grass Lake School kindergarten round-up, contact Principal, Ginny Mann, at 395-1550.

If you tell us to run an ad for a car you no longer need, we place it in our CARS FOR SALE classification (No. 80). Want to buy or sell a horse? Your ad goes in classification No. 42. Why do we do it this way? Because it's easier for our readers (your customers) to find your ad. No long search, no missing your sailboat ad because it's mixed in with rummage sales. The next time you want to turn a no-longer needed item into cash, give the Lakeland Newspapers a try. You'll be in the right place.

Fireworks raffle to defray July 4 celebration begins

With Antioch's July 4th celebration rapidly approaching, "The Rockets Red Glare" raffle sponsored by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce will give one lucky winner $5,000 and help defray the cost of the weekend celebration.

The raffle tickets cost $5 and only 2,000 will be sold. Tickets are available at the Chamber of Commerce, 1st National Bank of Antioch, 1st Chicago Bank of Antioch and various other locations throughout the village. The remaining $5,000 collected from the sale of the raffle tickets will go directly pay part of the costs of the celebration.

According to July 4 Committee Chairman Claude LeMere, the celebration will begin on July 3 at 9:30 a.m. with pre-parade entertainment on Main Street, followed by the parade at 10 a.m. Immediately after the parade, a fun fair for kids of all ages is planned at Williams Park. There will be games, sack races, three legged races, pony rides, petting zoo, clowns, and refreshments.

The celebration will continue on July 4 at Williams Park when the village will host its second annual sports tournament. Tournaments for baseball, basketball, volleyball, and horseshoes will be conducted. A dunk tank, fishing casting contest, bell ring, apple pie baking contest, a tug-o-war between the Antioch Lions Club and Antioch Rescue Squad, Fire Department water fights, bingo, entertainment by the Lakes Area Community Band, Grease Band, and P.M. & L. performances will keep everyone entertained.

The weekend will conclude with another of Antioch's world-famous fireworks displays. Delicious food and refreshments will be provided by the Antioch Lions Club.

"The weekend's celebration has the single purpose to enhance patriotism and celebrate our nation's birthday with the upmost of respect and dignity while we aid in the preservation of Antioch as a friendly, family oriented rural American community rich in tradition," said LeMere.

Power

For south Lake County Com Ed proposes a new 138,000 KVA line from the industrial park in Lake Zurich through Hawthorn Woods to Mundelein. It will replace existing 38,000 KVA and 12,000 KVA lines. Dozens of people turned out at an informational meeting last Saturday in Hawthorn Woods.

Com Ed says it needs the new power lines to serve a growing population. Without them, it cannot guarantee against further power outages or summer brownouts. Com Ed downplays the health risks and said there is no conclusive evidence about the negative effects of EMF.

Churchill and Salvi want the three-year moratorium to study the health hazards of EMF. Data gathered in state as well as from national and international sources will be considered. Sweden has done considerable research on the topic.

"This is a bill the people want," Salvi said. "They are concerned. They should be protected." The bill will be considered by the Environment and Energy Committee before going to the legislature.

Reminded that former 22-year state Rep. John Matijevich (D-North Chicago) tried without success to pass similar legislation until he was defeated last fall, Salvi said he has a plan. "I am not only going to work hard on this bill," he promised theatrics akin to committee approval of a bill last week requiring seat belts in all new school buses. The author brought 50 school children with essays on the subject before the committee. The children applauded as each committee member recorded a yes vote.

Riska

Riska. "If the township officials were doing their jobs, the challenge would have never been filed and it would have saved the taxpayers the cost of the hearing. If anybody wasted the taxpayer's money, it was the present township board."

Riska hopes to win a spot on the township board for the benefit of entire township's voters and believes she would serve the township well if elected.

"I hope I win," said Riska. "I enjoy public service and that is why I decided to run for trustee in Antioch Township. I want to serve the township."

Better place winner

Fighting the gangs

Combating the growing gang menace begins with acceptance of the problem.

Ever since the first graffiti was scrawled on a wall and gang colors appeared in this locality, law enforcement officials and civic leaders have been grappling with how to handle one of America's knottiest social problems, gang activity.

Outside of cities with a substantial minority population, the reaction more often than not has been denial. The head-in-the-sand attitude about the growing gang menace has only served to accelerate gang activity.

That's why the meeting on gang awareness sponsored by the Lindenhurst Chamber of Commerce was refreshing. With leaders from neighboring communities in attendance, guest speaker Vernon Hills Police Chief Gary Kupsak, who formerly was Lindenhurst police chief, spoke candidly. "You have a gang problem," the police chief declared. The reaction of business civic leaders attending from Antioch, Lake Villa, Lindenhurst, Round Lake and Grayslake was not denial, but acceptance of reality. "O.K. Let's do something about it," summed up the attitude of the attendees.

One thing that can be done is provide jobs for young people who might otherwise fall in with gangs. Fighting Back Coordinator George Bridges, another speaker, minced no words in emphasizing that decent paying jobs that elevate self esteem and provide identity are key weapons against the rising tide of gang activity. Providing jobs is a significant step in combating gang growth.

Fortunately, not every Lake County community finds itself in a gang war zone. What is important now is accepting the words of experts like Chief Kupsak, "You've got a gang problem," and then mobilizing to do something about the proliferation of criminal gangs.

Letters to the Editor

How to cut costs

Editor:

If high schools would pay the tuition for students that would like to attend private schools like Carmel or Waukegan Christian School, they would alleviate their overcrowding and save money. It costs less than half to educate a student in the private schools then in the public schools.

At Grayslake High, it costs $7,700 per year per student. If Grayslake High has 1,000 students and they sent a tenth of them to the private schools, they would save over $400,000 and eliminate the costly need to build onto the school. This is an easy way to solve their problems and one that most people would approve of.

Inviting more flooding

Editor:

Cambridge Builders wants the Village of Libertyville to annex 40.7-acres, some of which contain natural water retention soils, leaving the developer less than 24 buildable acres on which to build 75 homes. The closest developed area is zoned minimum 1-acre.

If this land gets annexed and the Cambridge Homes development at Rte. 137 and Butterfield Road becomes a reality at this density, brace yourselves for the possibility of more flooding downstream in the Forest Creek and Brook Hill neighborhoods and possible increased flood insurance rates for the homeowners there. A better solution would be build quality houses on one acre lots. This would equal the present zoning of the neighboring area to the northwest.

Sign ban flops, but hints of trend remain

By BILL SCHROEDER

A sign of the political times may be no signs. Or maybe less signs.

Incumbent village Trustee Richard Cashman of Vernon Hills launched a movement to conduct the April 20 village election in his hometown minus all the placards that clutter up front yards and intersections.

"Pollution," Cashman gave as his No. 1 reason. "Costly," was another reason offered by Cashman. Cashman cringes at the thought of campaign contributors looking for favors after the election. Cashman definitely is on to something with this line of reasoning.

Cashman's opponents and even some of his supporters dashed cold water on the sign ban plan. Their reasoning says a lot about local politics. "Signs make a difference. In a close race, maybe even a vote or two," remarked one observer sagely.

I think a sign ban has possibilities. Why not give it a try? Might encourage some citizens to do their homework on the local election.

Thomas Koch, a teacher who aspires to a Vernon Hills board seat, was an early supporter of the no-sign campaign plan. Koch favors mail and face-to-face meetings to reach the voters. Definitely an old-fashioned way of running a campaign.

An exponent of face-to-face campaigning with a pretty successful track record is Mayor Dick Welton of Gurnee. Welton already is well into his game plan for winning a sixth consecutive term—walking door-to-door and visiting every home in Lake County's fastest growing community. Welton scoffs at so-called high tech campaigns with a mini army of staffers, workers and fund raisers. "My campaign cost will be my time knocking on every door in Gurnee," exclaimed Welton, who said it will take about seven weekends of Saturday afternoon and Sunday calls to reach his goal.

John Schweda, making his second bid for mayor of Lake Zurich, much prefers offering his record in public life (he's a former fire chief and is a long-time school board member) to the razzle-dazzle of slick campaign maneuvers. "The people know me and what I've done," is the way Schweda puts it.

County Board Rep. Larry Leafblad (R-Highland Lake) tried unsuccessfully last fall to put a crimp in the avalanche of campaign signs inundating the countryside every election. But maybe there is a trend.

Watch and see. You be the judge.

EX-GUV GETS JOB—By joining the board of directors of Sun-Times Co., former Gov. James Thompson in effect is saying he's not all that interested in future politics, certainly as a candidate. While the board seat is a side job for the ex-guv, media types seldom get involved in running for office. Wonder how the big brass at the Chicago Tribune look at Thompson now? Big Jim always rated pretty high with them.

FUTURE PRO TEAM?—Members of the Lake County Economic Development Commission are dead serious about exploring the possibility of bringing a minor league baseball team to the county.

Chuck Isely, a commission member and president of the Waukegan-Lake County Chamber of Commerce served as point man to check out Kane County where the Class A Cougars play to full houses (3,000 persons) just about every home game. The Cougars have a loyal following, carved out right under the noses of the Cubs and White Sox. Why not a Lake County minor league team? Lots of baseball fans hereabouts enjoyed the Kenosha Twins over the years. They were saddened when the team was uprooted last year.

An interesting sidelight of the Kane County Cougars is that the team was the brainchild of Phil Elstrom, the one-time political powerhouse who ram-rodged the minor league team while County Board chairman. Elstrom grew up in Libertyville.

BASE CAMPAIGN—Jim Hotham, chairman of Great Lakes VOICE, the organization of volunteers trying to save Great Lakes Naval Training Center from the behind-the-scenes long knives in Navy Pentagon offices, estimates now that it might take up to $175,000 to mount a defense. That's a lot of money, but a pittance compared to the loss of military and civilian payrolls if Great Lakes gets shot down in action of the Base Realignment and Closure Commission (BRAC). Now that the local politicians have "discovered" Great Lakes, the save-the-base drive has taken on a life of its own. Hotham and co-chairman Ron Weeks, though, aren't complaining. Just so the job gets done. If nothing else, the political posturing provides some levity to a serious situation.

ALL-TIME STAR—If Desiree Russell isn't Lake County's all-time beauty and talent competition winner, she's probably second. The Mundelein resident's latest achievement was winning first place in the Regency Talent Competition in Schaumburg, which is a stepping stone to St. Louis, Mo., finals in July. The College of Lake County sophomore is an accomplished singer. Desiree starting winning trophies at age two and a half.

AT ODDS WITH BILL—Over the years, Congressman Phil Crane (R-8th Dist.), has stood fast to his conservative philosophy by steadfastly supporting such measures as the line-item veto, reducing the staff size and budget of Congress eliminating the National Endowment for the Arts, eliminating the earnings test for Social Security and fighting all efforts to create national health care. President Bill Clinton has not included any of these things in his plan to awaken America. You get an idea in a hurry where Phil stands with the President these days.

Putting brakes on growth in public, private sector

by AL SALVI
State Representative

It's been a great honor representing you in the Illinois House of Representatives. Although it's only been two months since I was sworn-in, I'm already quite busy.

Most of my time in Springfield right now is spent in committee hearings. In these hearings, I must carefully consider the needs of both my district and of the state. The result, frankly, is that I find myself voting "no" a lot.

I believe in limited government. Government grows bigger everyday, making it harder to earn a living in the private sector. To vote "no" to more programs isn't how one builds a political career, but it is, in my opinion, the right thing to do. I believe it's what the majority of the people of Lake County want me to do.

Legislation I have submitted is designed to downsize state government, so we won't need to do in the future what the federal government is doing right now.

On the local front, I'm doing my utmost to preserve the openspace nature of our community. This goal sometimes conflicts with my support for the free market. Government, in my opinion, should interfere only when an otherwise healthy profit motive runs counter to the public health or the public good.

There are three interesting local examples of this dilemma. One is the proposed Skokie Valley Asphalt plant in Grayslake. Another is a proposed asphalt plant and potential landfill south of Fox Lake. The third is a Commonwealth Edison proposal to build high power lines through residential Mundelein, Hawthorn

Woods and Lake Zurich.

The proposed asphalt plants in Grayslake and Fox Lake are both near schools and residential neighborhoods. One is also near the Volo Bog and a day camp. While modern asphalt plants put out fewer particulates than the older models, there still is a clear risk to school kids, especially those with respiratory difficulties.

We need asphalt, but there are better places to produce it. My bills, House Bill 1438 and House Bill 1439, will ban new asphalt plants and incinerators within a mile of a school. If a facility near a school ceases operations for a year or more, it will not be allowed to reopen.

We need power, too. But are high-power lines the way to go? Research in the U.S. and Europe indicates that these lines are associated with cancer, especially in children. Sweden is spending huge sums of money to bury power lines which were originally installed above ground.

Will high power lines be the asbestos of the 1990's? I doubt it, but I want to learn more about the health effects before we build new high power lines. A bill I am sponsoring, House Bill 1084, seeks a three year moratorium on new high power lines so we can study this issue.

So, as one newspaper reporter wrote, I've "hit the ground running." As well as everything is going now, though, I need to remind myself that I am a freshman in the minority party in the house.

My goal of limited government is going to be difficult to achieve. So too, the battle to maintain Lake County's unique openspace character.

Editors note: Al Salvi is a freshman legislator representing a west Lake County district. He is a Republican.

remember what he said? "I would not raise taxes on the middle class Americans to pay for the program I've outlined. If you can't raise the money through higher taxes on the wealthy and foreign corporations, I would cut federal spending elsewhere or slow down spending on the programs."

The then President Bush said back in September, "Clinton's spending plan would require him to raise taxes on everyone with taxable income of over $36,000 a year to pay for all the governor's promises."

Well, you got Clinton in office and know things have changed. When Democrats say "sacrifice," they really mean "taxes." That is the kind of sacrifice that will break the back of middle class America and lead us into economic ruin.

Clinton talks about change, change, change. That's all you'll have left in your pocket.

Wants reconsideration

Editor:

I hope Richard Welton will reconsider his decision to run again for mayor of Gurnee. The number and magnitude of recent decisions which will negatively impact Gurnee indicate it is time for a change.

One decision with great impact was Gurnee Mills. I know the mall is supposed to have a midwest theme, but it didn't have to look like a hog barn. Sales tax revenues are well below what was projected and crime runs rampant.

For the Grand-Hunt agreement, initially Mayor Welton wanted the taxpayers to pay millions for unbuildable wetlands. Then the "developers" involved came back with a proposal to give the village the wetlands and more. The average citizen has to ask whose side mayor Welton was on during these negotiations. The impact this development will have on local schools (and property) taxes will be incredible.

Building a new fire station on Hunt Club Rd. is a hot topic right now. This dilemma points out two things:
1. Development doesn't begin to pay for itself. If it did, taxes generated would allow for the firehouse without concern.

2. I expect elected officials to not simply respond to problems, but to look and plan 10, 25 and 50 years into the future.

Welton should give someone else the chance to make Gurnee their first priority.

CROSS YOUR FINGERS

Round Lake Park Police Chief Dan Veit is lobbying for new weapons. For $8,500 everyone in the department will get the same Sig Sauer handgun with three clips of 15-rounds each.

What Veit calls the "safest gun on the market" can be pulled from a molded body holster only by the user and requires 12 pounds of pressure to pull the trigger. "Which means there is no mistake about using it," the top cop said. All of which translates to reduced liability costs in a world of "lawsuits and attorneys" where almost every shooting ends in a legal case.

Another nice thing is the ammunition is interchangeable. That's important in a gun battle where the three 15-round clips per man could be spent.

In today's Round Lake Park Police Dept. every officer has a different gun.

"What happens when one of them runs out of ammo?" Veit was asked.

BAIRSTOW IS BACK

Bairstow is a old, well-known political name in Lake County.

In the late '50s there was state Rep. Jack Bairstow (D-Waukegan). He advocated elimination of the Illinois Tollway Authority when the then-existing toll roads were retired so the highways could become freeways. Bairstow died in office in 1963 after 10 years. He was succeeded by another familiar legislator, John Matijevich of North Chicago.

Another member of the clan was Republican Lake County State's Atty. Harry Hall. The Republican powerhouse died in 1951.

Evelyn Van Zandt Bairstow was the co-founder of the Lake County League of Women Voters. She just happens to be the mother of Jan (Dutch for John) Bairstow of Libertyville.

Jack Bairstow was an uncle. So was Hall.

Now in real estate, Jan, is taking the political plunge. Last year it was for Clerk of the Circuit Court on the Democratic ticket. Today it's for Libertyville trustee in the April election. "I want to keep the family legacy going," he said.

Chef "Rick"

Newest attraction: JR's Restaurant and Lounge

German is not spoken here anymore. Yes, the Black Bear Chalet is dead. We will soon be JR's Restaurant and Lounge.

In response to customers' demands, we have changed. The only thing that has not changed is our commitment to serving meals of the best and highest quality.

To fulfill this commitment, we are proud to announce the arrival of Chef Rick Zeoli. Formerly of Leisure Point and Captain's Anchor, Chef Rick brings with him his famous specialties, like Baked Scallops Marci, named after his wife. Or, how about Steak Diane, or maybe Chicken Di Sarrona. No matter what you choose, they will all be delicious.

As much as these are mouthwateringly tempting, we will be featuring what most customers rally want. Meat! Filet mignon, New York strip, butt steak, center-cut pork chops, barbecue baby back ribs — and featuring a 20-ounce porterhouse for $18.95. Also featuring on weekends, roast prime rib of beef for $13.95/$11.95. We have meat so fresh, the only thing missing is the moo!

You want seafood? Chef Rick will tempt you with his version of Shrimp DeJonghe. Or broiled orange roughy, broiled sole almondine, deep-fried jumbo shrimp, and deep fried shrimp and steak.

For the romantics who want to spend an evening of fine dining and entertainment, we have a choice of appetizers. A real tasty treat to start with may be Chef Rick's baked French onion soup au gratin.

To top off your dining experience, we feature a selection of desserts, like New York style cheesecake or chocolate cream fluff for $2.

We provide a dining atmosphere that is warm and friendly. The moment you walk in and are greeted by our hostess, you are conducted to a linen-covered table with folded linen napkins, full silverware set, and a candle-lit table setting. A full range of adult beverages and wines are available.

Our new lounge will surprise you. Every weekend we feature entertainment, like Ron Payton, Mike Lescher, Phaze II Productions, Mike Stanton and Linda Hall or the Rex Rizz Show.

Instructors Greg DeBoer and Jeannie Schwiager call out instructions to the stationary cha cha at the Sundance Saloon's dance lessons.

Nashville beat gets dancers on their feet

From the Texas Two step to the Electric Fly, from George Jones to Garth Brooks, country music and its accompanying style of dance is hot. Country western clubs have seen business boom in the last few years and even traditional rock clubs are getting into the act, featuring country bands and offering dance lessons.

This is the second time in little more than a decade that country has seen an upswing in popularity. The first time was in 1980 after the movie release of "Urban Cowboy" with John Travolta. Country bars with mechanical bulls started popping up in cities across the nation. But it didn't take long for that fad to fade.

This time, country enthusiasts say it's not just a fad. This time country music and dance is here to stay.

"The 'Urban Cowboy' trend was based on a movie. Naturally when the movie died, people started going back to other forms," said Neil Daly, operations manager at the nine-year-old Sundance Saloon in Mundelein.

Daly believes the current popularity of country is due to changes in Nashville, the heart of country music.

"Nashville started opening up to let young artists in," said Daly. "It's opened up towards people who grew up in the Beatles era. The rhythm sections are recorded a lot like rock and roll."

"The music has evolved. It's not all 'my truck won't start and my wife left me.' Yet it still tells a story. It's touching people on a more personal basis," said Daly. Country music is a lifestyle, said Daly. It attracts people who are outside of the big cities and can't relate to more urban music styles such as rap.

Debbie Hanson, owner of Southern Star in Round Lake has been a long-time fan of country music. She met Craig, her husband and co-owner of the Star, through the music. "We met at one of these places and we both enjoyed it so much we decided to elaborate on it," she said. The Hansons opened up Southern Star two years ago, a prime time for such a venture.

"I've always liked the music. I feel like people are finally waking up to the right thing," said Hanson.

"Dancing has made me hooked on the music twice as much."

At the Buffalo Bar & Grill in Libertyville, a burgeoning karaoke crowd led to the opening of a C&W dance room. "I happen to like country a lot," said owner Sandy Sun. "We have

karaoke and a lot of our customers were coming in and singing country songs."

To further satisfy those country lovin' patrons, Buffalo Bar opened up a country dance room in December.

"I'm converting a lot of people to country. A lot of people coming here never were exposed to country western. People who were strictly rock and roll are liking country," said Sun. "The dancing looks like fun and it is fun."

Jeannie Schwiager, a dance instructor at Sundance, has witnessed the boom in country dance. "There used to be plenty of room on the dance floor. A slow night there were 20 to 30 people in the club. Now, 200 people is a small night," she said.

Schwiager believes one of the reasons people are swamping the dance floor is that, in the popular line dance, partners aren't needed. "When we do a partners dance, we'll find one for you if we have to drag 'em off the bar stool," Schwiager laughed. "Once they get out there, they're hooked."

And once dancers get the steps down, they can start to get a little creative. "As long as you're going in the same direction and not infringing upon anybody else, you can do what you want," said Schwiager.

"Once you learn, it's a question of how creative you can be," said Daly. "It's amazing the things they come up with. Some of them should have been choreographers."

Schwiager explained that every club has its own variations on the standard dance steps and its favorite songs. One song that makes dancers zoom to the dance floor is "Boot, Scoot, and Boogie" by Brooks and Dunn. "They're doing it everywhere, not just at country clubs," she said.

Country dance enthusiasts range in age from their 20s to their 80s. "People come in with their kids," said Schwiager. They come from all walks of life. "We have people who can barely afford the cover charge to people who could probably buy the place." Some dress in full western attire, others come in sweatshirts and tennis shoes.

"It doesn't matter what they wear as long as they're having fun," said Schwiager.

HAPPY ST. PADDIE'S DAY

"Laughter is brightest where food is best."
—Irish Proverb

Happy St. Patrick's Day to all my Irish, and those who wish they were, friends.

Irish Corned Beef and Cabbage with Mustard Sauce

A must to serve not only on St. Pat's Day, but anytime.

- 1 (4-lb.) corned beef brisket
- 2 medium onions, sliced
- 1 medium onion, studded with 3 whole cloves
- 3 large carrots, scraped and sliced
- 1 bunch parsley
- 1 bay leaf

- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 2 lbs. small new potatoes, peeled
- 1 (2-lb.) cabbage, cut into wedges
- Irish Mustard Sauce

Combine corned beef and water to cover in a large Dutch oven; bring to a boil. Remove from heat. Drain. Add fresh water to cover. Add onion, carrots, parsley, bay leaf, and pepper. Bring to a boil. Skim off foam, if necessary. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 4 hours or until tender. Remove onion and parsley. Add potatoes to Dutch oven. Simmer 10 minutes. Add cabbage wedges and simmer 20 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Remove and discard bay leaf. Transfer corned beef and vegetables to a serving platter. Serve with Irish Mustard Sauce. Makes 4-6 servings.

Irish Mustard Sauce

- 1 T. cornstarch
- 2 tsp. sugar
- 1 tsp. dry mustard
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 cup water
- 1/4 cup cider vinegar
- 1 T. butter, melted
- 1 tsp. grated fresh horseradish
- 2 egg yolks, beaten

Combine first 4 ingredients in a medium saucepan; stir well. Add water. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Remove from heat. Stir in vinegar, butter and horseradish. Gradually stir in about one-fourth of hot mixture into yolks; add to remaining hot mixture, stirring constantly. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Makes 1-1/2 cups.

'Special' Corned Beef Hash

I called this 'special' because it is a bit fancier than the norm. Diced red and green peppers, potatoes, corned beef and onions topped with a poached egg transform a simple hash to something 'special'.

- 2 white boiling potatoes, cut into 1/4-inch dice
- 6 T. butter
- 1 onion, cut into 1/4-inch dice
- 1 red bell pepper, cored, seeded and cut into 1/4-inch dice
- 1 green bell pepper, cored, seeded and cut into 1/4-inch dice
- 1 lb. corned beef, cut into 1/4-inch dice
- 5 T. chopped fresh parsley
- 1 tsp. dried thyme
- 1 tsp. freshly ground pepper
- Salt, to taste
- 2 T. olive oil
- 6 poached eggs

2 scallions (green onions), white bulb and 3 inches green, thinly sliced

Place the diced potatoes in a saucepan, and cover with cold water. Bring to a boil and simmer until just tender, about 10 minutes. Drain, transfer to a large bowl and set aside.

Melt 4 T. of the butter in a skillet, and add the onion and peppers. Cook over medium heat until wilted, 5 minutes. Add the vegetables to the potatoes in the large bowl.

Add the corned beef, 4 T. of the parsley, the thyme, pepper and salt to the vegetables. Stir well.

Heat the remaining 2 T. butter and the oil in a 12-inch skillet. Add the hash, and spread it out evenly. Place a heavy lid or plate that is slightly smaller than the skillet on top of the hash, weighing it down. Cook over medium heat until the corned beef has slightly browned, 10 minutes. Remove the lid and turn the hash over with a large spatula. (This hash will not form a solid pancake shape.) Cook until the other side has browned slightly, 5 minutes.

Divide the hash among six plates and top each portion with a poached egg. Sprinkle with the scallions and the remaining 1 T. parsley. Makes 6 portions.

Grandma Rian's Soda Bread

Grandma Rian's Irish eyes twinkled while she made this... My bread is the real thing from the "old country," and it's delicious!

- 4 T. (1/2 stick) butter
- 3 cups unbleached all-purpose flour
- 1-1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 T. baking powder
- 1 tsp. baking soda
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1-1/2 cups dried currants
- 1-3/4 cup buttermilk
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 2 T. butter, melted and cooled to room temperature
- 1 T. caraway seeds, (optional)

Generously coat the bottom and sides of a 10-inch cast-iron skillet with 2 T. butter. Line the bottom of the skillet with a circle of waxed paper.

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees. Sift the dry ingredients together in a large bowl. Add the currants and toss well to coat.

In another bowl, whisk together the buttermilk, eggs and melted butter. Add this to the dry ingredients along with the caraway seeds, and mix until blended. Do not over-mix.

Spoon the batter into the prepared skillet, and smooth the top gently with a spatula. Dot the top with the remaining 2 T. butter.

Place the skillet in the oven and bake until the bread is puffed and golden brown, about 1 hour. Cool in the skillet for 10 minutes and serve warm, or then transfer the bread to a wire rack to continue cooling, cut the loaf into wedges to serve. Makes 1 loaf.

Easy St. Paddies' Dessert

An unusual way to celebrate St. Patrick's Day is to serve green food. Stuffed green peppers, green salad, green beans or peas, lime gelatin salad or lime punch all fill the bill. Or, even better...Try this tempting treat...all in green!

- 4 cups bite-size pear chunks or pear halves, chilled
- 1 cup sweet liquid tinted with green food coloring (pineapple juice, limeade, carbonated lime)
- 1 qt. lime sherbet
- 6 green maraschino cherries
- 6 green mint leaves

Mix fruit with liquid and chill thoroughly. Before serving, spoon fruit mixture into sherbet or parfait glasses. Top with scoop of sherbet, maraschino cherry and mint-leaf garnish. Serves 6.

Mint Leaf Cookies

Cookies are baked and assembled with chocolate mint frosting; I also enjoy making these in the summer to serve with homemade vanilla ice cream.

- 4 eggs, separated
- 3/4 cups sugar
- 1 tsp. vanilla extract
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1 cup flour

In small mixer bowl beat egg whites at high speed until soft peaks form. Gradually add 1/2 cup sugar; continue beating until stiff peaks form.

In large mixer bowl, combine egg yolks, 1/4 cup sugar, vanilla and salt. Beat at high speed until very thick and lemon colored. Fold in beaten egg whites. Fold in flour gently but thoroughly.

Drop batter from side of teaspoon onto ungreased cookie sheet covered with brown paper, to resemble leaf shape. Sprinkle with sugar.

Bake at 350 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes. Do not brown. Cool before removing from paper. If necessary, slide flat knife under cookies to remove from paper. Place flat sides of 2 cookies together with chocolate filling, sandwich-style.

Chocolate Mint filling

- 1 (3-oz.) pkg. cream cheese
- 2 T. butter
- 2 cups powdered sugar
- 1 (1-oz.) envelope premelted unsweetened chocolate
- 1 T. hot water
- 1/4 tsp. peppermint extract

In small mixing bowl combine cream cheese and butter. Blend well with mixer; gradually add sugar. Blend in chocolate, hot water and peppermint extract.

BAHA'U'LLAH'S REVOLUTIONARY TEACHINGS EARNED HIM A PLACE IN HISTORY.

Baha'u'llah, the Founder of the Baha'i Faith, openly taught the elimination of prejudice and the oneness of humanity. He was chained in an underground pit for four months and endured a life of exile and persecution for principles that have become key issues in the forging of a peaceful society today.

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21-April 19) The challenge for you this week is to juggle at least five different things without dropping one. Can you do all this? Count on an escape this weekend.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You may spend a good part of the week feeling out of sorts. That is no reason to grump or carry on. Stay in the present and don't worry about what was, is or could be. Others pound on your door this weekend. Don't answer. Just relax with one special person.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) We won't discuss in public what naughtiness could be going on this week, though others will be able to imagine. Don't slack off at work. It pays for the frolics, which you will be doing a good part of the weekend as well.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You have a far better perspective on basic security issues than you think. Try not to muddle yourself up in confusion and just zero in on what counts this week. You can't resist love this weekend, but, oh, you are so tired.

LEO (July 23-August 22) Follow through on a scheme that could bring much moolah into the household budget. Your casual way with others loses some of its magic presently. Develop a more authentic approach. Return messages and don't let anything fall by the wayside.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22) Don't wait to be asked. Take the initiative this week. Money and your need "to have" (control, power, possessions) drive you. You may be feeling a bit frayed by this weekend.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22) Do much soul-searching before you take action, because once you do, you may not have any recourse but to keep going. Something is out of synch. Before you point the finger, look at the holes in your own thinking.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21) Be more playful and open up to the positives in your life, rather than brood about the hassles. The magic and the intrigue of the Scorpion comes out this week. You end the week on an all-time high. (Well, nearly all time high.)

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21) Push hard and fast this week for what you want. The key is to take a leadership role at work and with friends. You make happen what you want. You are on top of the world this weekend.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19) Be more direct with those you work with this week, because an oblique approach gets you nowhere. You cannot be too responsible or too careful. Follow through on a project to the very end.

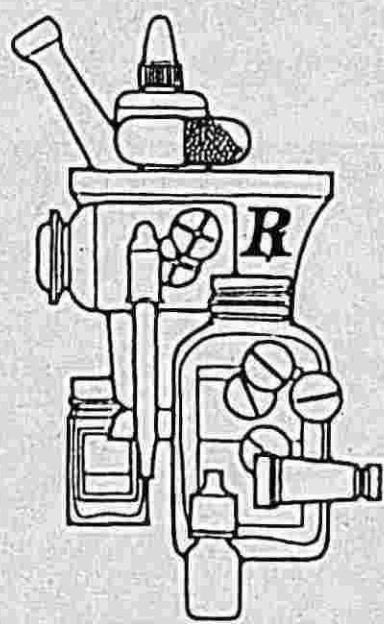

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18) Make plenty of time to do your own checking, Aquarius, because what you know to be correct, is. You have taken a back seat long enough in a partnership. By the weekend you are ready to zero in on what is important to you, and don't settle for anything less.

PISCES (February 19-March 20) Others dominate this week, but don't get it into your head that you don't have a say, because you do. Be careful, however, trying to convince the bank or the IRS you are right. Except for this minor pitfall, you are on a real roll.

Hawaii for the adventurer

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

For many, thoughts of the Hawaiian islands conjure up visions of lazy days of lounging under a palm tree on a white sand beach with only the sound of gentle ocean waves.

Well, Hawaii can certainly be that if you wish. But for the more adventurous, the islands offer challenges ranging from beginner to expert. Here are a few of my favorites.

In the expert category, try skiing (yes, snow skiing) down a 13,796-foot volcano! The "Ski Shop Hawaii" will provide you with the necessary equipment and clothing and transport you by four-wheel drive to the top of Mauna Kea (white mountain) on the big island of Hawaii for a five-mile untracked run. Contact them at P.O. Box 8232, Honolulu, HI 96830-8232, for more information.

Less challenging, but no less exciting is a trip by Zodiac (ocean-going rubber rafts) to the astonishingly beautiful Na Pali Cliffs on the island of Kauai. After a voyage which includes crashing headlong into waves curling along the cliffs, you will arrive at one of many secluded beaches inaccessible by land. Contact Na Pali Zodiac at Box 456, Hanalei, HI 96741.

How about a guided, week-long adventure of backpacking around Maui or Kauai with a world-famous author and outdoorsman? You should be able to hike six to ten miles a day and be in good health. Contact Hawaiian Outdoor Adventures at P.O. Box 30697, Long Beach, CA 90853.

Whale watching, anyone? Ocean Riders, Inc., uses rigid-hulled inflatable Avon sea-riders which, unlike the larger whale-watching boats, allows passengers to get right up to the whales. Contact Ocean Riders at (808) 661-3586.

Your travel agent can, of course, help you plan these and other Hawaiian adventures.

If you want to relax on the beach, more power to you. But for those seeking a little adventure, try Hawaii's rugged side.

Wheel World

'Groundhog' bit of sunshine no matter where shadow is

Bill Murray's extremely different, and most enjoyable new comedy, "Groundhog Day," could have been a product of director Frank Capra if he was still alive. But Harold Ramis proves he is certainly up to directing in the Capra style and then some.

Because of Murray's top-notch performance and the moral message all being delivered in the aura of a special day, Groundhog Day, Feb. 2, this film will probably also enjoy returning to our TV screens on an annual basis for many years, like the pictures "It's a Wonderful Life," and Murray's other holiday epic, "Scrooged."

Murray plays a self-involved prima donna of a weather man who reluctantly takes a TV crew to Punxsatowney, Pa., for the groundhog's annual weather prediction.

By the way, look closely at the shots of the town and you might recognize our neighbor to the west, Woodstock, especially by its downtown square where much of the story takes place.

The fact that Murray doesn't want to be at the Groundhog Festival makes the ensuing phenomenon - where he can't turn the calendar's page and his digital watch is stuck on Feb. 2 even more entertaining.

The idea is to keep at things until you get them right, as does Murray while repeating Groundhog Day, or parts of the day, in Punxsatowney.

In the process he becomes a better, selfless human being, makes people happier, saves a life or two, falls in love with the lovely Andie McDowell, and learns to play

TUESDAY

Gem and mineral society

The Lake County Gem and Mineral Society's general meeting will be held at the Waukegan Public Library, 129 County St., on Tuesday, March 16 at 7 p.m. The program will be slides shown on the piano like Peter and Eddie Duchin in just one day - or days - or weeks - or whatever!

Chris Elliot plays his bored, and then amazed cameraman smoothly.

With the strains of "Where or When" a-missing, but appropriate theme song for the story, Murray puts his message across in a most painless and pleasing way. The smiles are many, the belly laughs few. This was one of our disappointments since we were in the mood for some "What About Bob" kind of hilarity and there is none.

Some of the "change scenes" break in in spasmodic spots and they can get a little confusing.

In fact Murray's popping in and popping out of certain times of Groundhog Day repeatedly, seems at times redundant.

"Hog" presents an interesting and unusual concept in an interesting and fun manner. We give it 3.5 out of five stars.—by GLORIA DAVIS

Critics Choice

A Welcome harbinger of spring—the annual festival of dance—provided warmth for five numbing winter nights as the multi-talented Paul Taylor Dance Company kicked up its heels at Chicago's Civic Opera House.

Although the group has not performed here since 1984, they made themselves right at home, presenting a series of energetic and thought-provoking routines to a responsive audience.

"Company B," a half-hour long piece making its Chicago premier, is set to pop classics of the Andrews Sisters. While it's a dynamic, upbeat dance, there is an underlying serious note to it recalling World War II.

A more disturbing dance, "Last Look," featured the dancers in a series of harried, at times disjointed gyrations. As they piled onto one another on the floor or shook violently before some freestanding mirrors was one of hopelessness and frustration.

Other fancy footwork on the agenda in upcoming weeks includes: March 12 through 14, Batsheva Dance Company, an Israel-based group; March 16 through 21, Joffrey Ballet; March 24 through 27, Joseph Holmes Chicago Dance Theatre; April 28 through May 9, Hubbard Street Dance Chicago.

General ticket information is available by calling (312)346-0270.—by TOM WITOM

Paul Taylor Dance Company performs "Company B."

Theater. A change in lighting and alteration of the height of various sections dramatically alters its appearance. Music from an ancient Celtic drum adds a special flair.

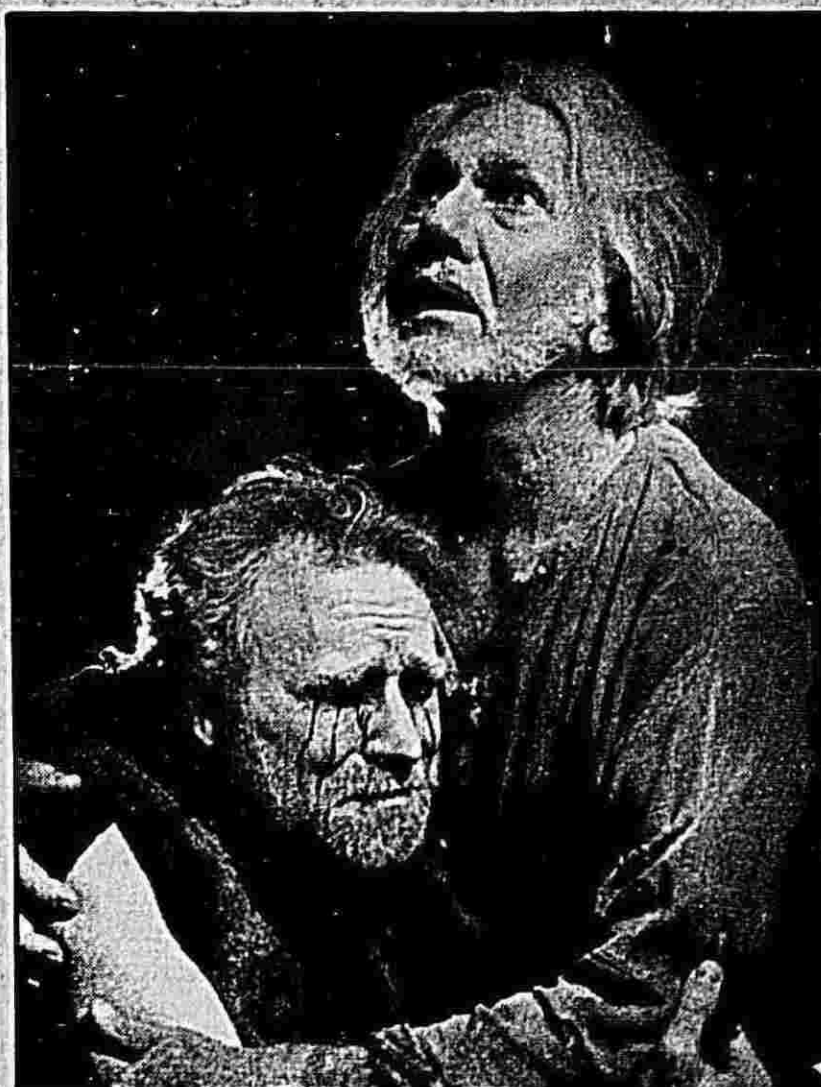

Richard Kneeland brings a commanding presence to the lead as the tragic Lear, the king who once had it all but finds out first-hand what it's like to be powerless, homeless and penniless. Through his suffering, he undergoes a stunning catharsis.

Greg Vinkler is equally potent as the Duke of Gloucester—whose eyes are plucked out before he can see the treachery of his illegitimate son Edmund (villainously portrayed by Henry Godinez).

Kevin Gudahl merits special note for his role as Edgar, Gloucester's innocent son and secret protector. His characterization of a mad beggar is well done.

Ross Lehman makes as fine a Fool as one could ask, while Barbara Robertson (as Goneril) and Kristine Thatcher (as Regan), carry it off superbly as the two deceitful daughter. Susan Hart is radiant as Cordelia, the caring daughter.

"King Lear" is filled with vivid imagery, a harrowing storm scene, savage sword play and the wonderful, timeless language of William Shakespeare. It runs through March 28 at 1016 N. Dearborn. For ticket information call (312)642-2273.—by TOM WITOM snow. Grow up and try to think about other people, rather than selfish fun.

Troubled At Dist. 46

As taxpayers and parents, we are deeply troubled by events at Grayslake School Dist. 46. Who couldn't believe that a small, select group of highly educated professionals, my neighbors, board members, would cave in to unprofessional self-serving interests of the principal at Avon School. She has succeeded in destroying the morale at the school. She is now moving from this district.

How About Results?

Dear Lipservice: What you've done for the public is a wonderful idea. People need to know that someone does really care. It gives them a chance for hope. I also think you need one page for results shown in your paper, showing how these problems were solved. I will be subscribing soon, because of Lipservice. I've lived in the Round Lake Beach, Round Lake Park and Round Lake Heights area.

Be Positive

You claim to be a positive thinker. But I say to you that your negative actions speak louder than your positive words. Do more than Lipservice. Become a positive person.

Working For A Living?

I live in Long Lake on Rte. 134. On my way to the store I saw an Illinois Dept. of Transportation Truck. One man was cleaning up debris; two men were sitting in the truck. The one man walked all the way from Fairfield Road, dam near to the town of Long Lake, and the other two idiots never got out of the truck to help him. If we're paying them all the same, let's let them all do a day's work. If not, let's replace them.

Needs Old Country Buffet

Hey, Fox Lake. Why not use the old and empty stores and bring in an Old Country Buffet. They seem to be doing pretty well in Vernon Hills. Why should the people from this area have to go all the way over there? Round Lake is building up like crazy; let's build up old Fox Lake. That's all I have to say.

I'm from Wauconda and I would like to add one last word to the guy who parks where he wants to, and anyone else who feels the same way. I suggest you get a current Illinois Rules of the Road book and read Page 32. Parking in a handicap space when you don't need to is not only rude, selfish and lazy, it is also prohibited by law. The fine should be raised to $100.

Young Teachers

I would like to reply to "Overworked and Underpaid." I would like to know where this teacher works. In Dist. 118 teachers can't possibly be working until 9 p.m. because the students grade each other's papers. If your child happens to have another student in the classroom who doesn't particularly like him, the papers often aren't graded fairly.

Verify What You're Told

Reporters should verify their information. Round Lake High School has not had a freshman soccer team for two years. There's only a varsity team, which was reinstated two years ago with nearly $6,000 in money raised by a group of dedicated parents.

Get Rid Of Prisoners

I'm a middle-class, tax-paying citizen of this country. If you want tax reduction, let's deal with the American Civil Liberties Union. We have too many prisoners in jail and we're paying for it. Let's get rid of these guys; they're guilty. Let's start saving money and get real with our laws.

Take A Lesson

I'm from Island Lake. I'm calling about discrimination. If anybody is being discriminated against, it's the American Indian. If the white man would take a little knowledge from the Indian, I think our country wouldn't be in the shape it's in.

Treading On Ice

This is to the Round Lake Post Office. Try shoveling the snow in front of the post office. I stopped by there at 8 p.m. to drop off a letter and almost fell on my you-know-what. Get with it Round Lake, before somebody sues you and stamps cost 50 cents.

Lindenhurst Attacks Seniors

Why does Lindenhurst want to attack the senior citizens and the disabled? Is that all they have to do? They want to start charging us $10 for a car sticker, which up until now, was free. Wake up, greedy Lindenhurst, and be nice to the old folks. One day, you will be a senior, too.

Bill's famous pizza puffs move to store shelves

At 33-years-old, Mary Ann Rouse has spent her life in the pizza business. The daughter of Bill and Pat Kwiatkowski, the founders of Mundelein's Bill's Pizza and Pub, Mary Ann is taking the next generation of pizza making a step farther. She's marketing frozen pizza and her own frozen pizza puffs throughout Lake County and is working on a project to export them overseas.

Pizza puffs are little calzone-like treats that Mary Ann created for her two boys, Joey and Erik. She fills a nine-inch circle of dough with some sauce, Wisconsin cheese and sausage, and deep fries it for a couple of minutes.

"I began making them for the kids and they really like them," said Mary Ann. "I think kids like them because they can pick them up and hold them in their hands."

Each pizza puff is hand-rolled. All the dough and sauce is made fresh and Mary Ann uses the same fresh ingredients inside the puffs as she does on Bill's renown pizzas.

"We only use Wisconsin cheese and all of our sausage is made to our specifications," Mary Ann said. "The puffs taste kind of like a double-decker pizza."

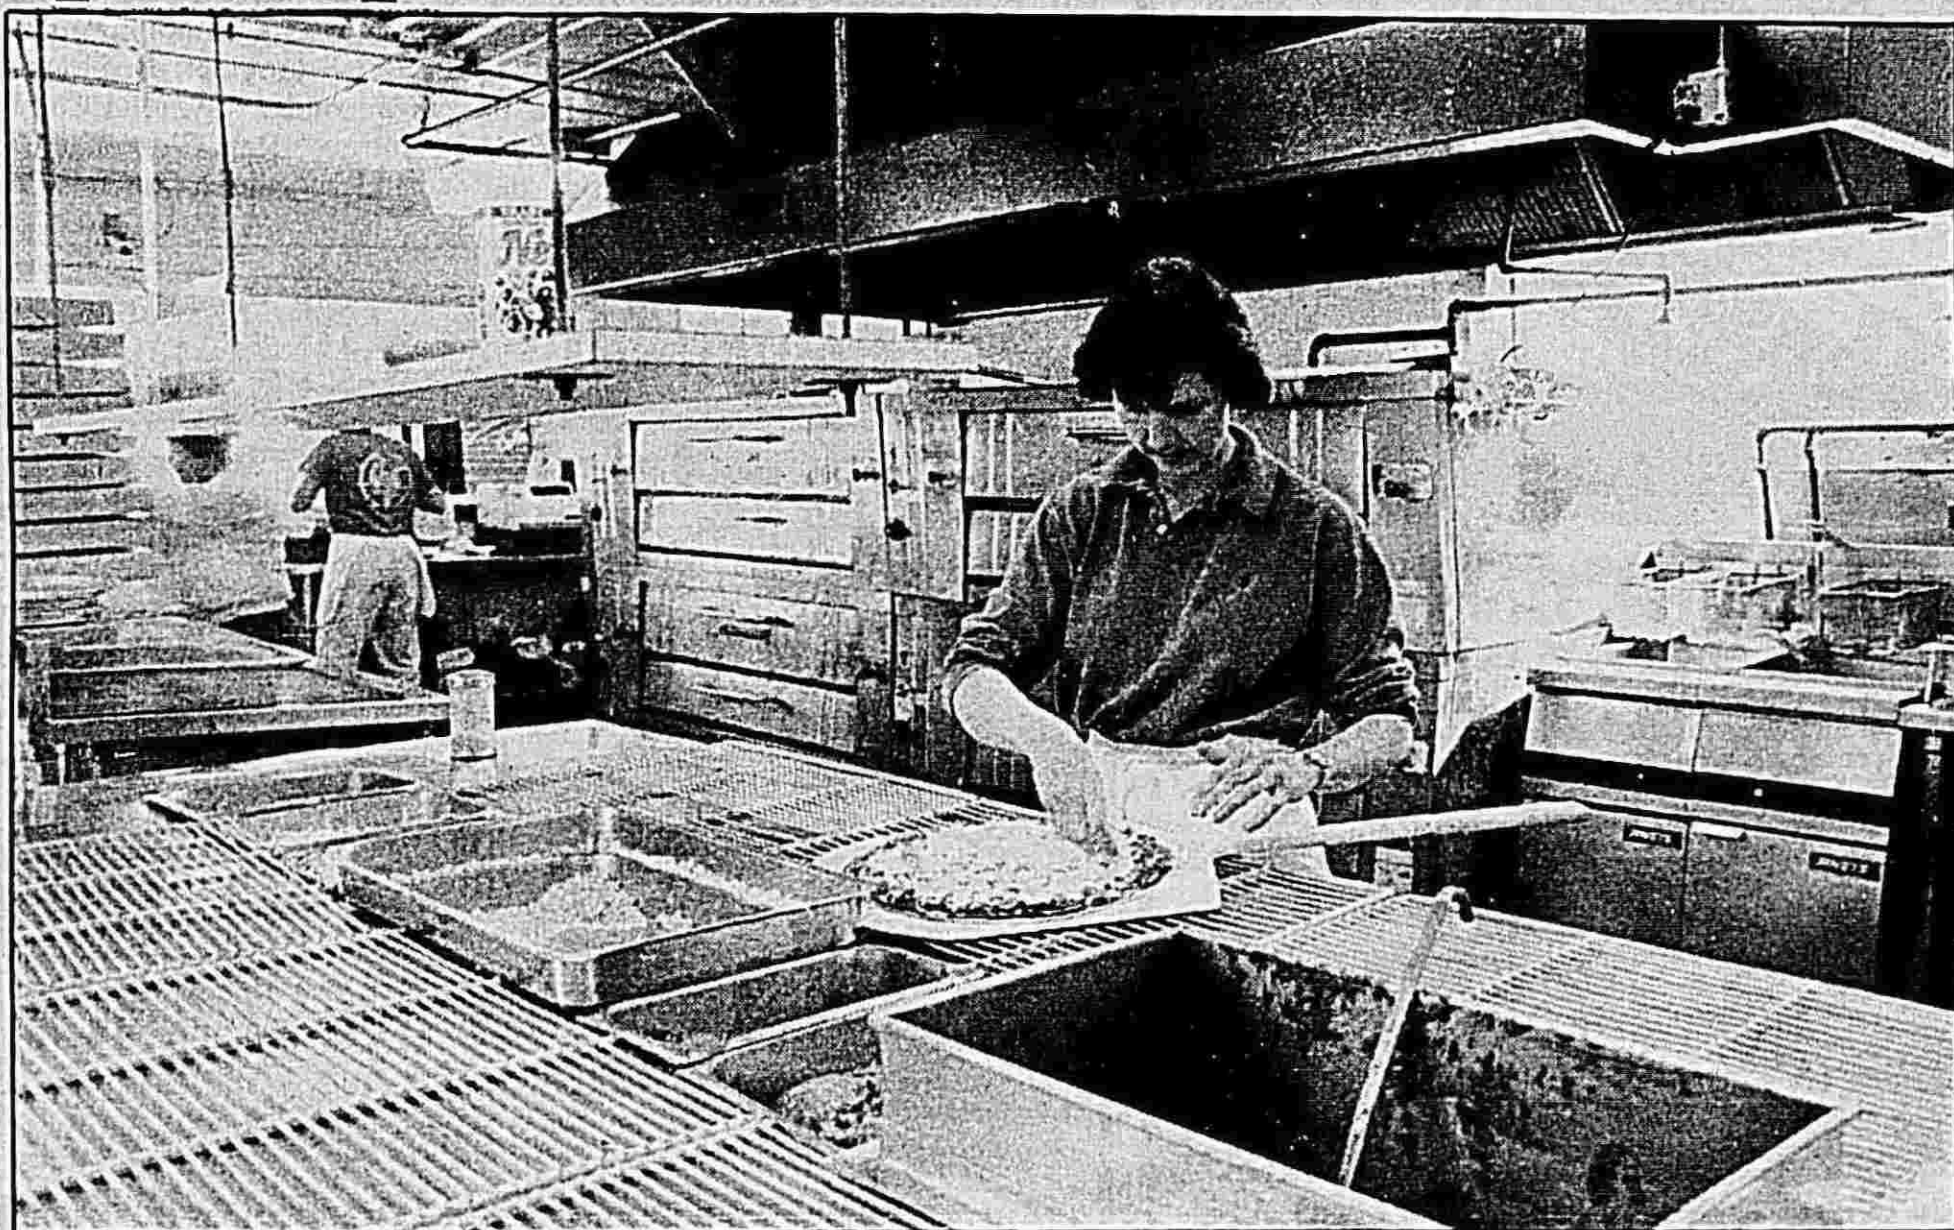

Mary Ann decided to try her luck at marketing the frozen puffs to local groceries about three years ago. After going through a divorce, Mary Ann, was looking for a way to make some additional money that wouldn't interfere with managing the family restaurant, which she does along with sister Patsy.

"It took a lot of experimenting to get the recipe right, to freeze and then reheat the puffs successfully," Mary Ann said. "I thought about marketing frozen pizzas but just couldn't compete price wise with some of the major manufacturers. We do market some frozen pizzas but our primary thrust is the puffs."

Despite the name recognition of Bill's Pizza and Pub, which has been a local tradition since 1957, getting started in the local market was a big challenge for Mary Ann.

"It was really hard," she said. "I kept sending the manager of Cub's Food's in Mundelein (now Welton's) samples and calling him to see what he thought. Every time I called back, he'd say he hadn't had a chance to try them. I decided to call him back one last time and made up my mind that if he hadn't tried them I'd give up. To my surprise, he said he had tried them and he really liked them."

Kemper's operating losses top $36 million

Kemper Corporation, Long Grove, reported an operating loss (including discontinued operations) of $36.3 million, or $.74 per share, for the quarter ended Dec. 31, 1992, compared with operating earnings of $38.7 million, or $.80 per share, for the same period in 1991.

For the fourth quarter of 1992, the company reported a net loss (including discontinued operations) of $198.2 million, or $4.02 per share, compared with net income of $43.9 million, or $.91 per share, for the same three-month period of 1991. Revenue from continuing operations for the 1992 period declined to $357.1 million from $613.0 million in 1991, primarily due to additions to the company's provision for real estate-related losses.

As previously announced, the fourth-quarter 1992 results include an increase in the company's provision for real estate-related losses of $263.6 million pretax, or $173.5 million after tax. Including these real estate-related losses, the after-tax realized investment losses were $161.9 million, or $3.28 per share, in the fourth quarter. This amount also includes $2.2 million after tax in write-downs of certain below investment-grade securities. In the fourth quarter of 1991, the company reported after-tax realized investment gains of $5.2 million, or $.11 per share. The 1991 results reflected after-tax charges of $89.1 million for real estate-related losses and $17.2 million to write down certain below investment-grade securities.

The increase in Kemper's provision for real estate-related losses primarily reflects the company's fourth-quarter decision to reserve for its estimates of the entire current deficiency on its loans without regard to credit from values available from other projects, collateral or guarantees. The provision includes both additions to reserves on loans and write-downs of certain assets transferred to real estate owned.

"It also is important to note that most of the reserves and write-downs do not affect our life insurance companies. Our life companies' statutory capital ratios are solid, and the companies are positioned for growth," David B. Mathis added.

County approves Jensen site and 10-year tax break

Jensen International Inc., which makes loudspeakers and audio equipment accessories, will build a $20 million world technology center in Lake Forest after the Lake County Board approved a tax abatement to close the deal.

The county stands to gain 160 construction related jobs and an increased tax base from the high-tech complex. However, the tax payers will not feel the benefit of the site until a 10-year, $440,000 tax abatement ordinance lapses well into the next century.

The new Lake Forest center will allow the company to relocate its corporate headquarters, research and development center and manufacturing facility to one site.

The company acquired the land from Lake Forest Academy, which plans to tap into the company's resources for educational purposes.

Jensen estimates the center will create 225 to 250 jobs when the site is completed in 1998.

Lake County youth group honors Abbott for support

The Lake County Forest Preserves' Youth Conservation Corps, a summer job for teenagers, honored Abbott Laboratories for 10 years of support.

Last year, Abbott donated more than $10,000 to sponsor seven YCC summer workers—five residents of North Chicago who worked at the Greenbelt Forest Preserve in North Chicago and two additional teens who worked at other Lake County Forest Preserves.

The company also donated in-kind services, such as printing, and three Abbott employees served on the YCC Advisory Committee: Steve Smurthwaite, director of facilities engineering; Terry Simmons, director of administrative services; and Marlow Hicks, manager of site engineering.

"Thanks to Lake County companies like Abbott, hundreds of young men and women have spent their summers earning an income while protecting, developing, and beautifying the natural and recreational areas of Lake County," said Barbara Posner of Tenneco Automotive in Lincolnshire, 1993 YCC Chairman.

Established in 1974, YCC helps teens develop work skills and an appreciation of the environment through projects such as planting trees and shrubs, and building trails, bridges and park benches in Lake County forest preserves.

The Lake County Forest Preserves' youth Conservation Corps (YCC), a summer job program for teenagers, honored Abbott Laboratories for 10 years of support at a recent recognition event.

Real Estate

By NANCY CLUTE

REALTOR

TAX UPDATE FOR HOMEOWNERS

Homeowners, age 55 or over, may exclude for their taxable income all capital gain up to $125,000 from the sale of their principal residence. They must have lived in the home at least three of the five years before they sell it and the exemption may be claimed only once in a lifetime. This tax break has not been changed.

Deductions for moving expenses remain at $3,000 (real estate commissions, mortgage costs, etc.) if you are forced to purchase a home due to a job change over 35 miles away. Up to one half this total ($1,500) may be deducted for pre-move househunting expenses and temporary living expenses (up to 30 days) at your new location. In order to take the deduction, you have to itemize your return.

There has also been a change in the area of capital gains. With the new tax law, any capital gains made when you sell real estate is now taxed at your regular income tax rate. However, the gain can be deferred if you buy another house within two years.

If there is anything I can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at RE/MAX HERITAGE, 4641 Grand Avenue, Gurnee. Phone: 336-2600. I'm here to help!

Area Chevy dealers reach out

"If you can't bring the kids to the Planetarium, then take the Planetarium to the kids," is the philosophy behind "Starlab," a smaller, inflatable version of The Adler Planetarium's domed Sky Theater.

When the program began, Charles Brass, Outreach Astronomer from the Adler, and the students put on Starlab programs at education fairs and other community events, but were limited in the number of schools they could visit due to the difficulty of transporting the bulky mini-dome. Transportation will no longer be a problem, however, thanks to a new minivan donated by the Local Chevrolet and Geo Dealers Association, who recently came on board as a Starlab sponsor.

The following Lake County Chevrolet and Geo Dealers are sponsoring the Starlab program: Boehmer Chevrolet in Wauconda, Raymond Chevrolet/Olds in Antioch, Ray Chevy-Geo in Fox Lake and Rockenbach Chevrolet in Grayslake.

Pizza

Following a rave review of her product in the newspaper, business picked up with several other local grocery stores wanting to carry her product.

Just when it seemed Mary Ann was on her way to success, two major roadblocks were constructed.

The first one, was a lawsuit filed by a prominent pizza puff manufacturer that charged the use of the word "puff" infringed on the company's trademark.

"I thought the term was generic and was shocked that this big company wanted to get me out of businesses," said Mary Ann. The suit was settled in Mary Ann's favor but she lost a couple of months of business.

A week after the lawsuit was resolved, the U.S. Department of Agriculture seized her products from all the stores. "I wasn't aware and neither were many of my clients that in a frozen pizza business, the sausage used must be inspected on the site of preparation," said Mary Ann. "I honestly thought, that because our sausage is inspected when it is prepared that there would be no need for additional inspections."

After nine-months of red-tape and making some minor adjustments to the kitchen area, Mary Ann's frozen pizza business was back in operation. But, the two delays had cost the entrepreneur a year's time.

"My client stores were very encouraging to me during this time," said Mary Ann. "I was nervous after a year if any of them would want to carry my products but they all did."

Today, the pizza puffs, which come in sausage and cheese and cheese and spinach, can be purchased at Don's Finest Foods in Lake Forest, Sunset Foods, Welton County Market, Treasure Island in Lake Bluff, Parkway in Grayslake, the Mundelein Meat Shop and the Piggly Wiggly in Gurnee. The Welton Stores, Don's Finest Foods, Sunset Foods and the Mundelein Meat Market also carry frozen pizzas with the Bill's Pizza and Pub logo.

Throughout her ordeal, Mary Ann has had the support of both her parents.

"My dad's the one I go to for business advice," said Mary Ann. "He's helped me out a lot over the years." Her father even gave her a Blodgett two-deck oven as a birthday gift a couple of years back. "My mom's thrilled with what I've been able to accomplish. There are times when she worries if I'll be able to get it all done but she's very supportive."

"I've been making pizza all my life and I love it," she said. "I have the worst hours in the world but they work for me."

Mary Ann often takes Joey, 6, and Erik, 5, on sales calls and deliveries. "They help out in the kitchen sometimes, too," she said. "They'll probably be more involved than they want to in the coming years."

Each summer, Mary Ann loads her two deck oven onto a trailer and takes it on the road to Mundelein Days, Vernon Hills Days and Libertyville Days. "It's a lot of fun."

Mary Ann says she should do pretty well with the pizza this year. "I'm just a minnow in this business right now," she said. "I don't have any plans to go nationwide at least not yet. I think many of my client stores like it that I'm a small, independent operation."

Mary Ann may not be ready for nationwide sales yet but she is working with the export staff at the College of Lake County on a project to export the frozen pizzas and pizza puff to Taiwan.

"I don't know how that's going to work out, but it's exciting," she said. "Right now, I'm happy with what I'm doing."

Lakeland's BUSINESS/REAL ESTATE

Condo models open at Lakes of Lincolnshire

With over 70 percent of the residences in its first phase sold and several second-phase units already purchased, two display models are open to the public at The Lakes of Lincolnshire Condominiums, a new community of 60 luxury condominiums in north suburban Lincolnshire.

Developed by Bernard Katz and Co., Inc., a pioneer condominium developer based in Skokie, The Lakes of Lincolnshire features six floor plans, ranging in size from 1,991 to 2,907 square feet, based-priced from $237,000 to $399,000 in Phase II.

The new display models are squarely in the center of the spectrum of floor plans at The Lakes of Lincolnshire: Plan Five features two bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths within 2,714 square feet of living space, while Plan Six offers two bedrooms, two baths and 2,575 square feet.

"This is the biggest step in the development of The Lakes of Lincolnshire since sales began," said Jerry Weiss, vice president of the company.

"The condominiums at The Lakes of Lincolnshire are larger than most single-family homes," Weiss said. "Exactly how big will now be made clear to visitors when the models open." First occupancies will soon follow, "which will come as welcome news to the complex's early buyers," he added.

Fully equipped kitchens include built-in gas cooktops with self-cleaning double ovens, microwaves, refrigerators, dishwashers and garbage disposers. Each condominium has individually controlled gas heating and air conditioning provided by a separate furnace and compressor.

Lakes of Lincolnshire owners are automatically given full membership in the Rivershore Bath and Tennis Club, which features two tennis courts, a swimming pool and large sunning deck cantilevered over a lake. A closed-circuit TV security system, telephone-intercom entry feature and attended gatehouse add an extra touch of security.

The Lakes of Lincolnshire is located on Rivershore Lane off of Milwaukee Avenue, a mile north of Deerfield Road, west of Interstate 294. Office hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. six days a week (closed Fridays).

Looking for a new job? Here's where to go!

A recovery beyond seasonal expectations is in store for the second quarter. The current net hiring strength of 19 represents a sharp gain over the 4 recorded three months ago and 11 in the second quarter of last year.

One of the most notable findings of the current survey is the decline in the number of firms planning staff reductions as this is a necessary element in future job creation.

While an optimistic construction industry is to be expected at this season, a 34-point increase from first to second quarter has been seen only once since 1987.

With few exceptions, most industries in the private sector foresee their most active second quarter hiring posture since 1989. Manufacturing — durable and non-durable, wholesale and retail trades and services are all particularly strong. The weaker outlooks in public administration, education, transportation and public utilities and mining are all continuations of long-term recessionary trends.

NORTHEAST — With encouraging consistency, nearly all industries anticipate improvement over second quarter expectations of the past three years, but resumption of hiring activity appears to be painfully slow. While the warm, springtime weather is approaching, overall job market expectations remain below the national average.

MIDWEST — For companies in the Midwest, the recession seems to be over and employment plans resemble those of the late 1980s. While all states in the Midwest are optimistic, an unusual situation exists in Michigan, where the state expects very active hiring activity, but the important Detroit area outlooks remains bleak.

SOUTH — Rarely even in the depths of recession did employment prospects slip very low in the south. The region now stands at the national average. Greater strength in the coming quarter lies in the South Atlantic states of Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina than in the deep southern areas.

WEST — Since business in the West became sluggish after 1990, the area has experienced one quarter each year of aggressive hiring and three quarters of much lower employment additions. It is the third quarter that is seasonally active. It is important to note that prospects in California are considerably below the region's average. Opportunities are considerably better in other states. Courtesy of Manpower Inc.

Employment outlook is hot in Lake County

Employers in Lake County area expect to see a robust hiring pace this spring, based on the newest survey results from Manpower Inc. for the second quarter of this year.

According to Chuck Bartels of Manpower, the Employment Outlook Survey indicates 33 percent of area businesses questioned will expand their workforce during April, May and June, 3 percent intend to reduce employment rolls and another 64 percent expect to make no adjustments.

"The spring months usually bring a period of hiring rejuvenation, a recovery from the mid-winter lull," Bartels said.

Findings three months ago revealed 20 percent anticipated adding staff while 13 projected personnel cutbacks. A year ago at this time, the outlook was somewhat similar, as 30 percent said they would hire more workers and 3 percent planned reductions.

Job opportunities appear best this spring in construction, non-durable goods manufacturing, wholesale/retail trade, finance/insurance/real estate and services. Mixed readings are reported in durable goods manufacturing.

On a nationwide basis, the current outlook has not been surpassed in close to four years, as an optimistic 26 percent plan employment additions. Only 7 percent, the lowest since mid-1989, anticipate staff reductions.

Another 65 percent will remain at present levels and 2 percent are not yet certain. Conditions appear to be considerably more favorable in the Midwest and South.

Manpower Inc. conducts the Employment Outlook Survey on a quarterly basis. It is a measurement of employers' intentions to increase or decrease the permanent workforce, and during its 16-year history has been a significant indicator of employment trends.

The survey is based on telephone interviews with more than 15,000 public and private employers in 468 cities in the country. Manpower Inc. is the world's largest temporary help firm, annually providing employment to nearly 1.5 million people through more than 1,850 offices in 34 countries. Office services account for more than half of the assignments in which its temporary workforce is engaged.

Job hunting: Turning Failure Into Success

For millions of Americans, the task of conducting a job search produces little more than frustration, anger, humiliation, rejection, and personal defeat. In working with thousands of job seekers, most individuals will place job hunting close to the top of their list of things they fear most in life, just after death, serious illness or injury, financial ruin, and divorce. It is not surprising then to find that the suicide rate among the unemployed is higher than among the employed group.

There is no question that the process of finding employment, for many people, is a difficult task incumbent with a high rate of personal pain and failure. Knowing this, countless numbers of employment placement agencies have sprung up across the nation to supposedly relieve people of this burden.

Are you then doomed to face this terrible situation alone? Is the task of hunting for employment one which you should simply understand and accept is filled with pain and suffering? Is job hunting one of life's bitter moments?

No, not if approached intelligently from an informed perspective. Specifically, not if you acquire and use effective job seeking strategies and skills.

The process is akin to watching two individuals who each speak a different language trying to talk to each other. Their intentions may be good, but because of their inability to understand each other, the outcome is predictable. Many people simply do not understand the needs of employers and therefore, fail to communicate the very information which employers require when selecting employees.

The process of seeking employment is a task, a task which can be learned and mastered just like any other task in life. Unfortunately, few people take the time to learn how to successfully seek employment.

The bottom line then is simple--if you are willing to learn several effective job seeking strategies and skills, you can decrease your pain and failure and increase your success.

It is surprising how many people use the same old failure-ridden strategy for seeking employment. Once the decision has been made that a job is needed, most people will prepare a resume and cover letter (which is their way of announcing to the world that they are available) and then start looking for any individual or company where they can forward this information.

This process, often referred to as the "shot gun" approach, requires that you send out dozens, if not several hundred, letters and resumes.

Now you would think that after sending out hundreds of letters and resumes, and after making countless numbers of phone calls, that you would be offered several positions. Well, the truth of the matter is just the opposite. I'm no longer surprised to hear from people who followed this strategy that they received maybe one or two responses and even these were not exactly what they wanted.

After completing such a seemingly thorough job of seeking employment and after getting such a poor response, the conclusion that most people draw from this experience is "there are no jobs out there for me". This conclusion often turns into panic and depression. At this point most people become desperate and will accept just about any job, rather than getting the one they really want.

Unfortunately (or fortunately, if you own or work for an employment placement agency), this is the time when many frustrated and defeated job seekers will seek help from professional services and will be willing to pay "big bucks" for them to do what they believe they can not do for themselves. In addition to using placement agencies, other resources are often used, such as Career Planning and Placement services on college campuses, the Department of Employment Security, Classified Help Wanted ads in newspapers, computerized job banks, labor and trade unions, professional organizations, and private head hunting firms.

In spite of the combined resources and efforts of the above, research clearly reveals that none of the above resources is usually more successful than 20% of the time. That means that for every 100 people who use these resources, 20 or less actually secure employment from this assistance. If you're part of the 80% group who does not find them useful, where do you then go when all resources have failed?

That's the bad news. Here's the good news. The same research studies also indicate that the best way of securing employment is to seek out employers directly by yourself. That is it, put most of your time and energy into contacting employers who have a need for you.

But there's a catch. Don't use the "shot gun" approach and send your resume and letter to every company you think may hire you. That approach will not work well for you. Here's a 4 step strategy you should adopt which has demonstrated over the years to produce more job offers and better job offers than the conventional strategy.

Step #1--Determine Your Career Objective

Before you even start the process of job hunting, know what kind of job you want to find. If you do not know what you're looking for, how will you know where to look for it, and how will (Continued on page 7B)

Take Control of Your Career!

Where are the jobs? Who's getting them?

If your goal is to be a rotary phone technician, you're out of luck. Rotary phones are tough to find, let alone, tough to fix. Preparing for the 1990s and beyond is difficult, especially when determining careers and vocations.

According to Carol Kleiman, writer of two nationally syndicated columns "Jobs" and "Women at Work," and author of "The 100 Best Jobs for the 1990s and Beyond," preparing yourself for the right career is the smartest move you could make.

The following is a list of information you should consider when choosing the correct career path.

•You must be computer literate. Computers are, have been, and will continue to be the trend of the workplace. Computers aren't enough, though. Along with computers come computer programs; learn as many computer programs as possible.

•Don't aim for only the big companies. More than half of all companies in the United States have less than 50 employees. If you cut out the small companies, you have half a chance to find a job.

•Education. Education. Education. The more education you have, the more valuable you become.

•Engineering! The engineering field is hot! Take more math and science classes. Engineering is the No. 1 job right now.

•By the year 2000, three of every four employees will need retraining. When retraining time comes around to you, don't fight it. Continue to learn and grow. What you learn now, may be very important for other jobs.

•Who's being hired? Of the employees that will be hired in the future: 15 percent of the new hires will be white; only 45 percent of men will be in the workforce. Women will make up 64 percent of the workforce.

•Fastest growing fields: Health Care,

Robotics, Biomedics, Lasers, Computers, Human Resources, Amusement, Day Care, Elder Care, Medical, Office, Oil and Gas, Optical, Outpatient, Pharmaceuticals, Residential Care, Semi Conductors, Temporary Services.

Here's the questions you'll be asked at the interview

Are you nervous when you go to an interview? Are you never sure what the interviewer will ask? These are the Top 20 questions most likely to be asked, according to The Endicott Report of Northwestern University.

1. What are your long-range and short-range goals and objectives; when and why did you establish these goals; how are you preparing yourself to achieve them?
2. What do you see yourself doing five years from now?
3. How do you plan to achieve your career goals?
4. Which is more important to you: Money or Type of Job.
5. What do you consider to be your greatest strengths and weaknesses.
6. How do you think a friend, teacher or former employer would describe you?
7. What motivates you to put forth your greatest effort?
8. Why should I hire you?
9. How do you evaluate or determine success.

10. In what ways do you think you can make a contribution to our company?

11. What qualities should a successful manager possess?

12. What two or three accomplishments have given you the most satisfaction? Why?

13. If you were hiring somebody for this position, what qualities would you look for?

14. In what kind of work environment are you most comfortable?

15. How do you work under pressure?

16. Why did you decide to seek a position with this company?

17. What do you know about our company?

18. What two or three things are most important to you in your job.

19. What criteria are you using to evaluate the company for which you hope to work?

20. What have you learned from your mistakes?

Turning those 'negatives' into 'positives'

If your qualifications are not exemplary and you have some troubled spots on your resume, don't worry. The employer may need an explanation, additional information or a new interpretation if you have something in your employment history which is negative or is the kind of thing frowned on by employers.

It's up to you to provide a positive explanation, either in response to a question or on your own initiative.

The following is a list of "negatives" which can be turned into positives.

Job Hopping

Employer: It seems that you have problems holding onto a job, Mr. X. Why do you change jobs so often?

Possible Solution: Mr. Employer, it's true that I have held a lot of jobs. I tried a variety of things and learned what I like to do and what I can do well. I assure you that if you give me the chance to work for your company, you will have a stable, dependable employee. It's time that I settled down.

Notice that you can agree you were a job-hopper, but then turn it around to your advantage. Also, you can be reassuring that you will stay with this employer.

Firing

Employer: "Why were you fired from your last job, Mr. X?"

Possible Solution: "To be honest, I was at fault. I was unhappy with the job, didn't take an interest in it, missed a lot of time. I realize I was wrong and would never be that unfair to my employer again. I've learned from my mistake."

Possible Solution: "To be honest, it was a different situation. I, sure my employer had sincere and good reasons for firing me. He felt that I was out sick too often and perhaps he was right. However, before last winter, I have always had a good attendance record and I'm confident that this will not be a problem in the future."

Note that you can just admit to being fired. Own up to the reasons and reassure the employer that it won't happen again. Often, people get defensive about being fired, but it's better to admit you may have been at fault.

Older Worker

Employer — (This might be a hidden agenda item which the employer will not bring up in an interview. It's a good idea to introduce the topic yourself.

Possible Solution: "There is something I'd like to discuss with you, Mr. Employer. As someone who has worked for 25 years as a secretary and office worker, I feel that I have experience, stability and perspective to offer your company. I hope that you will value a long record of achievement and performance such as mine."

No Work Experience

Employer: "Since you just graduated from school, you have no work experience. Why should I hire you?"

Possible Solution: "It's true that I have no experience at this kind of work. What I do have is energy, initiative, motivation and I'm willing to learn. Give me a chance to show what I can do for you."

What should you know about a company before you apply?

The first step in preparing for your job interview should be researching the company. This should be completed prior to applying since one never knows when the interview will take place.

Know the answers in advance to the following questions should help you prepare pertinent questions to ask the prospective employers. It also will show the employer that you are informed about and interested in the company.

Key research questions:

- What does the company do?
- How old is the company?
- What industries does it serve?
- What product/services does it provide?
- How large is the company?
- Does the company have a good reputation?
- Why is this job open?
- What is the policy for advancement?

The answers to these questions should help you formulate a clearer idea of what your future might be with this particular company. It should also help you to answer the critical question of "Why do you want to work here?"

SOURCES OF INFORMATION

Local Chamber of Commerce: The Chamber will have information concerning most companies and businesses in the area.

Library: The librarian can help with resources for information on company background, such as manufacturing directories or sources on Fortune 500 companies.

Call The Company: Another source of information is to call the company and ask for printed information, if available. You can also talk to someone about the history and background of the company.

Talk to Someone Who Has Worked at the Company: Talk to someone who works at the company. That person may be able to provide some valuable background information. Be cautious in talking to some people. They may give you misinformation. Be sure your sources are reliable.

This is what bosses are looking for

When you're going to an interview, you've got to be at the top of your game. There are eight factors you should remember when being interviewed. This is what the boss or interviewer will be looking for.

•Appearance — Is the general appearance favorable? This includes everything from stature, posture, personal hygiene and neatness.

•Personality — To what degree is the applicant's personality likable? This includes friendliness, maturity, interests, self-confidence, manners and overall communication in verbal responses and silent body language.

•Experience — Does the applicant have any background or experience which would enhance his ability to perform well in the job in question? Does experience prove a history of job stability and career progress? Other considerations (attendance, punctuality, dependability, trustworthiness).

•Education — Is the applicant's education related to and adequate for the job in question? Will additional training be necessary? Is academic record satisfactory or even above average?

•Potential — Does applicant give evidence of ability to succeed and show initiative in position in question? This will include a discussion of personal goals and career objectives. Are the applicant's skills transferable?

•Conversation — Can applicant adequately express himself. This will include an analysis of voice quality, appropriateness of responses and quantity of responses.

•Enthusiasm — Does applicant show a sincere interest in the position and enthusiasm for the career field? Is the applicant willing to make some sacrifices for improved business performance?

•Reasoning and Judgment — Does the applicant show alert, logical reasoning and sound judgment?

Job hunting

employers know what you can do for them?

Do not go into the job market with a vague or general idea of what kind of position you want. Many people falsely believe that their odds will be improved if they do not indicate a specific career objective on their resume, in their cover letters, or in conversations with company representatives. The more general they are, the more positions they believe they will be offered. This is a fatal mistake. Do not ask the employer to determine what type of position you should be offered. If you are unclear in your objective, the employer will be unsure of your value, and you will simply be passed over in most situations.

If you are unsure of a career direction, seek out professional career guidance before you start your job search. Know what talent (knowledge and skills) you possess, and which occupations typically require your talent.

Step #2--Determine Who Needs You

Depending upon your talent, your next job is to identify those employers who have a need for your assistance.

Specifically, you need to identify employers who typically hire the kind of position you would like to secure. There are many ways to identify potential employers, too many to go into detail in this article. However, the commercial bookstores are loaded with books on how to find potential employers.

Don't worry whether or not these employers have any current employment openings. Most job openings are never advertised. Therefore, if you only seek those with advertised positions, you'll be looking at only a fraction of the real market. Plus, if you identify an employer at the time an advertisement for employment has occurred, you will be contacting the employer at the very time when the competition will be the keenest. You want to get to the employer before he or she places a public notice for help. This strategy is referred to as finding the "hidden" job market.

Don't concentrate solely on just those employers who have publicly stated that they have an employment position available.

Once you have identified a list of potential employers, eliminate those on your list who represent the least attractive opportunities.

Note: this is the point at which most job seekers will send out their resumes and cover letters. Because they fail to complete the next step, they are often unable to offer employers the kind of information which is necessary for an employer to conclude that you are the right one for the job.

Step 3--Determine Why the Employer Needs You

Understand that for the vast majority of employers, the decision to hire someone comes down to one simple point. A person is hired because he or she is seen as the person best suited to help the employer reach his or her business goals. This connection between the employer's need and your talent is critical to your job seeking success. Understand the connection and you can succeed, fail to realize how you can help an employer and your application for employment will usually be rejected.

To understand what an employer needs and whether or not they need you will require you to do some research of each company. You need to find out such things as, what are the company's objectives, how are they currently trying to reach those objectives, what are the current obstacles which exist that are prohibiting them from reaching those objectives, and most importantly, what role does the position you want play in reaching those objectives.

The bottom line here is ignore the more informed you are concerning the employer's needs and how you can help him or her satisfy those needs, the better chance you have of convincing him or her to hire you.

To gather this information, read anything and everything you can on the company. Call or write and ask for any available literature on the company, its product or service line, and its mission statement. Talk to anyone employed by the company or by a similar company. Research the company in various publications (check out your local public and school libraries). Contact the Better Business Bureau in the town where the company resides for information. Talk to customers who have purchased products or services from the company. Talk to past employees. In short, take on the role of a researcher or "private investigator" to gather all the information you possibly can on the company.

After gathering the information, you will begin to see the "big picture" and specifically what they are trying to do. Once you recognize their objectives and the problems (obstacles) they are facing, you can then recognize their needs. If you have the talent to satisfy their needs, then you are someone they are going to be most interested in meeting and hiring.

Without the above information, you may make the fatal mistake of telling the employer only what you need (a job), rather than how you can help him or her meet his or her needs. The difference between these two points is easy to understand, but critical to your success.

How to assess a job offer in the '90s

by Max Carey

Congratulations! Your job search has paid off. One company has made a job offer and you expect another one to do so soon. Have you thought about how to assess a job offer? Fortunately, most organizations will not expect you to accept or reject an offer on the spot. You probably will be given at least a week to make up your mind. It may not be an easy decision.

If you turn down the job, it could be a long time before you get a better offer or even one as good. But if you take the job and it turns out to be unsatisfactory, time will be wasted and you will have to start looking again. Although there is no way to take all risk out of this career decision, you will increase your chances of making the right choice by doing a thorough evaluation of the offer - weighing all the advantages of taking the job against all the disadvantages.

You should begin to gather the information you need to assess an offer before begin interviewed for a job. Try to get background information on the organization by researching published sources.

Your knowledge of a company's products or a government agency's programs and what you know about its problems and plans will impress interviewers and increase your chances of being offered the job. After receiving an offer, what you learned about the organization can help you decide whether you want to work for it. Some published information may also be available on specific positions; for example, government job postings give details on qualifications, duties, and salary.

Most of what you need to know about a particular job, however, will come from the interviews. Job hunting guides available in libraries and bookstores can tell you how to prepare for an interview. The people who interview you will volunteer many of the facts about the job that you will need for making a decision. But do not count on them to tell everything without your asking.

As a part of preparing for interviews, think about what you would like to know about a job before accepting it and make a list of questions to take with you. This way you are more likely to come away from these talks feeling that you have all the information needed. Do not be afraid to ask what you need to know.

The Organization

Background information on the organization - be it a company, government agency, or nonprofit concern - can help you decide whether it is a good place for you to work. Factors to consider include the organization's business or activity, financial condition, age and size. Information on growth prospects for the industry or industries that the company represents also is important. Here are some questions to ask:

(1) Is the organization's business or activity in keeping with your own interests and beliefs?

Look at a company's products or services, customers, and reputation in the industry. Look at the government or nonprofit organization's purpose and the sources of its funds. It will be easier to apply yourself to the work if you are enthusiastic about what the organization does.

(2) How will the size of the organization affect you?

Large employers generally have a greater variety of career paths and more managerial levels for advancement than small employers. Large employers also have more advanced technologies in their laboratories, offices, and factories. However, jobs in small firms may offer broader authority and responsibility, a closer working relationship with top management, and a chance to see clearly your contribution to the success of the organization.

(3) Should you work for a fledgling organization or one that is well-established?

New businesses have a high failure rate, but for many people, the excitement of helping create a company and the potential for sharing in its success more than offset the risk of job loss. It may be almost as exciting and rewarding, however, to work for a young firm which already has a foothold on success.

(4) Does it make any difference to you whether the company is private or public?

A private company may be controlled by an individual or a family, which can mean that key jobs are reserved for relatives and friends. A public company is controlled by a board of directors responsible to the stockholders. Anyone can buy stock in a public company.

(5) Is the organization in an industry with favorable long-term prospects?

No matter how hard you work, your job security and advancement will depend on the company's success. The most successful firms tend to be in industries that are growing rapidly. Of course, the fact that your company is in an expanding field does not guarantee its success. If it does fail, however, there may be many other firms that are growing and need people with your experience.

(6) Does activity in the industry fluctuate with the business cycle?

If the business is cyclical, ask how these affect you. Would a slump mean reduced earnings or even job loss? Would a recovery mean pay raises, bonuses, and promotions?

(7) Where is the job located?

If it is in another city, you need to consider the cost of living, the availability of housing and transportation, and the quality of educational and recreational facilities in the new location. Even if the place of work is in your area, consider the time and expense of commuting and whether it can be done by public transportation.

(8) Where are the firm's headquarters and branches located?

Although a move may not be required now, future opportunities could depend upon your willingness to move to these places. Ask about which organizational functions are centralized. Find out if cost-of-living differentials or higher salaries are paid in areas with higher housing or transportation costs.

The Nature of the Work:

Even if everything else about the job is good, you will be unhappy if you dislike the day-to-day work. Determining in advance whether you will like the work may be difficult. However, the more you find out about it before accepting or rejecting the job offer, the more likely you are to make the right choice. Ask yourself questions like the following:

(1) Does the work match your interests and make good use of your abilities?

The duties and responsibilities of the job should be explained in enough detail to answer this question. Written job descriptions can be helpful, but they may fail to stress what you will be expected to do most of the time. Make sure you find out which duties are essential.

(2) How important is the job in the company?

An explanation of where you fit in the organization and how you are supposed to contribute to its overall objectives should give an idea of the job's importance.

(3) Will the job change frequently?

The employer may plan to move you to a different job if the need arises. Find out whether this is a common practice and what the other jobs are like.

Resumes: Saying only what you need to say

The four most commonly used resume styles are described below.

(1) CHRONOLOGICAL - this style (the most common and traditional) incorporates a listing of the job seeker's work history starting with the most current position and working back in time. Each job is described in terms of a title, dates of employment, employer's name, and a description of the duties and accomplishments. No mention of a specific job objective is recommended with this style.

This resume style is recommended if you have a solid work history with no gaps in time, if the job you want is directly related to your work history, or if you have worked for a well known company and you want to use the company's name to bolster your professional image and reputation.

(2) FUNCTIONAL - this more contemporary style incorporates a listing of the job seeker's major areas of knowledge or accomplishments - usually arranged in priority from the most developed skills to the least developed skills. (Note: You may also arrange your skills in any order to best support whatever position you are seeking.) Job titles, names of employers, dates of employment, and a description of duties are usually left out when this style is used. Like the Chronological style above, no mention of a specific job objective is recommended with this style.

This resume style is recommended if you are making a career change and are attempting to secure a position very different from your past work history. This style is also useful if you are seeking your first job (you have no work history), or when you are re-entering the job market (and you have gaps of time when you did not work).

(3) TARGETED - this style incorporates information found in both of the styles listed above - information about your work history and major areas of skills and knowledge. The main difference with a targeted resume is that you DO mention the title of the position you are seeking, and then list those skills and accomplishments you have had and relevant work experience which are related to your job objective. In short, the whole resume is geared or focused at one specific job (target).

This resume style is recommended when you are confident in your job objective and have related knowledge, skills and experience to support your objective.

(4) ALTERNATIVE - this style (in the form of a business letter) requires that you first research the company(ies) you would like to work for to learn what they're business objectives are and what they need in terms of talent, and then prepare a letter describing how you (with that same talent) can be of help to them.

While this style requires more work (i.e. the research) than the other styles, it can offer certain individuals with limitations (i.e. those people with work gaps, no work experience, etc.) an opportunity to be seen as talented and valuable. This style has also been used very successfully by individuals who could use one of the three styles listed above, but who wanted to demonstrate a uniqueness and willingness to focus in on the employer's needs.

Sample Letter of Application

Mr. Howard Simpson
Vice President of Operations
New Visions Software, Inc.
1500 Palmer Road Suite
1200 Burlington, Massachusetts 01803

Dear Mr. Simpson:

Please accept this letter as my application for the position of Director of Marketing as advertised in the August 16 edition of the Boston Globe. I have enclosed my resume for your review.

As Assistant Director of Marketing for three years with Colonial Software, I was able to increase sales last year from $200,000 to nearly $500,000 by using a variety of marketing strategies. For example, by initiating a series of "focus groups" and "test market seminars" I was able to more accurately identify the unique strengths of each of our software programs (from a typical user's perspective) and develop a more effective marketing campaign for each product.

Considering your newest product line is desktop publishing software, I believe my experience in marketing our desktop publishing software to the print shop industry may be of value to your organization. By conducting intensive customer surveys, I was able to help our company improve its technical support service and increase its sale of desktop publishing software by over 200%!

I understand that you will be "manning" the New Visions Software booth at the Windows Expo in Boston on September 16. Considering the vast numbers of new Windows based software which are expected to be displayed, I simply can not afford to miss this event! I will stop by at your booth around 10:00 am and perhaps we can discuss how I may help New Visions enhance its share of the software marketplace.

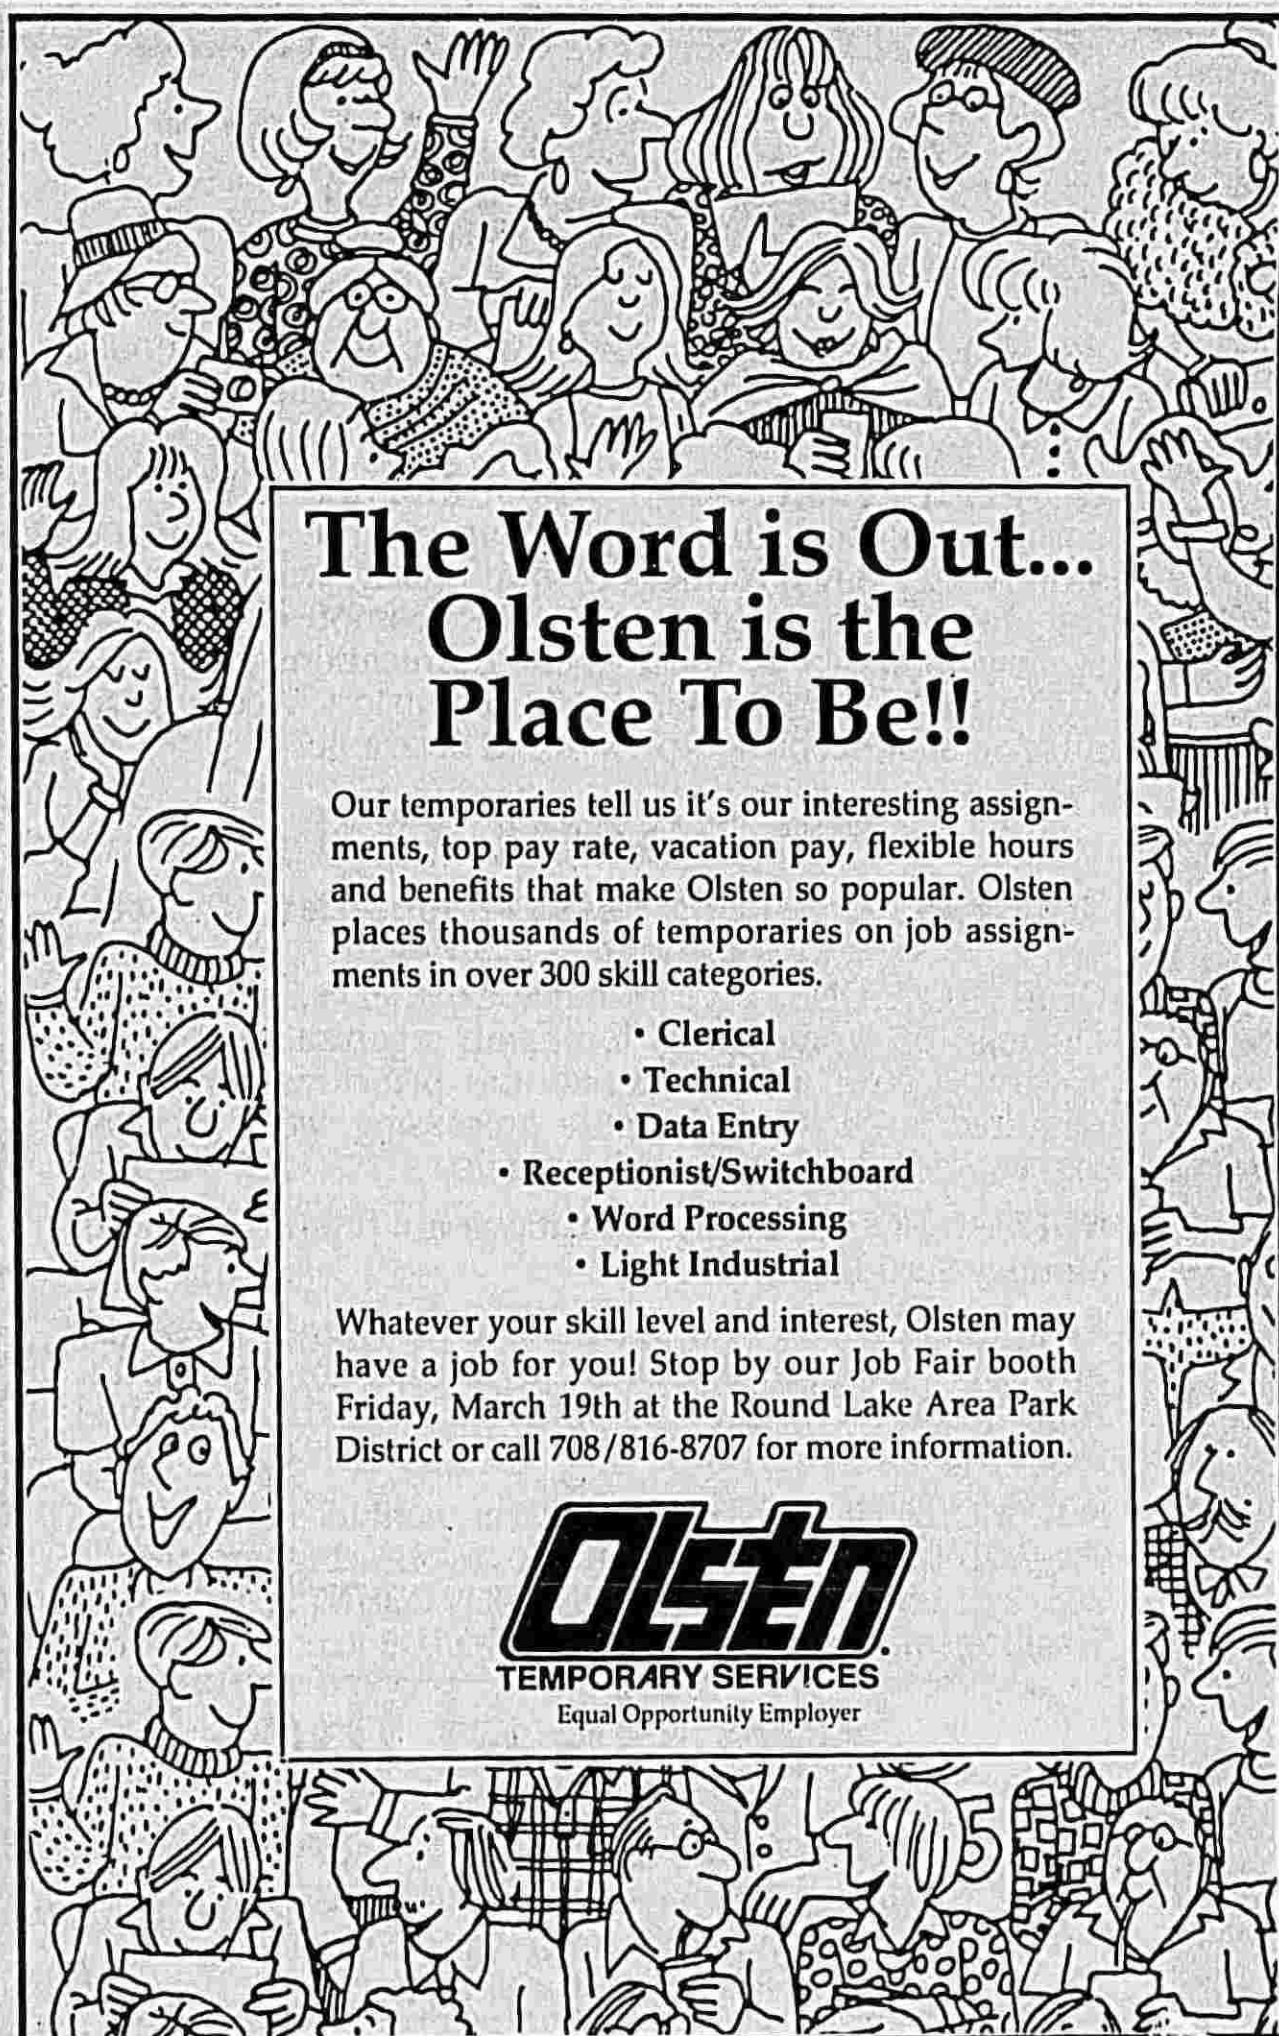

I look forward to meeting you.

Sincerely,

Sandra Clifford

Unemployment rate falls to 7 percent in Feb.

UPI - The nation's unemployment rate dipped to 7 percent in February as U.S. business payrolls made their biggest monthly climb in four years, the government said Friday, but the Clinton administration is not withdrawing its economic stimulus package.

"It is not yet cause for celebration," Labor Secretary Robert Reich said.

And White House press secretary Dee Dee Myers said: "I don't think the American people think the recession is over."

The Labor Department said the jobless rate fell 0.1 percentage point from 7.1 percent, while non-farm payroll employment expanded by a better-than-expected 365,000 jobs - the largest increase since January 1989.

"Employment growth did accelerate last month," Reich said. "The president is encouraged by this."

But the unemployment rate is still nearly 2 percentage points above its level before the 1990-91 recession, and the job growth during the recovery has been abnormally slow.

"We're 3 million jobs behind where we'd be in a normal recovery," Reich said, adding that 90 percent of jobs created in February were part-time positions grudgingly accepted by unemployed people needing the money.

"The quality of jobs is not what we would hope," the labor secretary said.

President Clinton has proposed a plan to stimulate the economy by creating 500,000 new jobs in 1993. The plan is under attack by critics who say it will widen the massive federal budget deficit, but Reich indicated the administration stands by its plan - even with Friday's encouraging data.

"The Clinton administration continues to hold to the same proposition," Reich said.

The Labor Department's unemployment report said the largest payroll gains occurred in construction, the services industry and retail trade.

Construction expanded by 96,000 jobs, while retail trade and services each added on 131,000 positions.

Manufacturing jobs increased by 10,000. Government jobs rose by a paltry 1,000.

Payroll employment is gauged by a Labor survey of U.S. businesses. The unemployment rate, on the other hand, is measured by a survey of U. S. households. It has been inching downward since June, when it hit an 8-year-high 7.7 percent.

Household survey data show the civilian labor force grew by 244,000 after falling by more than 500,000 the month before. The number of employed persons rose by 380,000 to 118,451,000 in February, and the number of jobless fell by 137,000 to 8.88 million.

Part-time employment rose by 348,000 to 6.5 million - 1 1/2 million higher than before the recession.

While major firms like General Motors and IBM have been announcing massive layoffs and capturing headlines, analysts say the country's smaller businesses - the engine for U.S. job growth in recent years - have been hiring workers, enabling the nation's job market to expand slowly as the economy struggles to recover from the recession.

Helpful rules for writing cover letters to get a job

While there are no hard and fast rules which are universally accepted and which govern the writing of employment letters, there are several conditions which most job seeking experts agree should be taken into consideration. For example,

- *Always attempt to direct your letter to a specific individual, preferably the person who has authority over the position you seek. This may mean doing a little research to discover the person's name, but well worth the effort.

- *Always make mention of the product line or services which the company offers, or some of the major business activities in which the company is involved. In other words, demonstrate to the reader that you are well informed about their business activities.

- *Always mention how your experience or talents fits into the company's mission or business activities. Don't assume the reader can determine your value -- tell the reader how you can be of value to him or her.

- *Don't focus only on what you want in your career or job search. Focus in on how you can help the employer with his or her business needs and goals!

- *Always ask for an opportunity to discuss how you can be of value to the employer. In short, ask for an interview. Don't "soft pedal" your words hoping the reader will figure out that you're looking for an interview.

- *Always try to keep your letter to one page -- single spaced and typed with a clear and readable typestyle. Use a good quality paper.

- *Don't use slang or abbreviations -- use traditional grammar and writing style. Don't try to get fancy in an effort to catch the reader's attention.

- *Always check your letter for errors in spelling, grammar, and punctuation!

- *Don't ask the reader to "get back to you". Tell the reader you will call, stop in, or write back to further discuss your mutual employment interests.

- *Always try to use language which is familiar to the reader. Don't use acronyms which the reader may be unfamiliar with, but do try to use the "vocabulary" which is appropriate for the position you seek.

National recovery seen in survey

A recovery beyond seasonal expectations is in store for America's job markets in the second quarter of 1993.

In a Manpower Inc. poll, 26 percent of respondents said they would increase staff levels during the upcoming three months and 7 percent reported plans for personnel reductions. Another 65 percent plan to remain at current levels and 2 percent are not yet certain.

The totals represent sharp gains from those of last quarter, when 17 percent planned further hiring, but 13 percent were cutting back, and from the second quarter of last year, when 21 percent expected to increase employment and 10 percent were seeking lower staffing levels.

Get ready for the jobs of the future

by James Gonyea

Whatever the reason, whether it's because we fear the loss of employment and therefore the loss of our security, or whether it's because we believe the future will bring us new things for a better life, the subject of "jobs of the future" always seems to generate a great deal of interest.

Beyond the obvious advantages to the employed and soon-to-be employed, there are other reasons for trying to predict what employment will and will not be needed in the future. The success of all our industries and commercial ventures and state, regional, and national political organizations are at stake. In short, the American way of life depends upon how well we can anticipate the needs of the future.

Granted, we do not always predict accurately, and even when we do, we don't always choose the right course of action. However, for a society which is built upon the success of a free enterprise system, not to anticipate the needs and desires of our citizens and then attempt to satisfy those needs and desires is societal suicide.

At the end of World War II many American industries found they had on hand a surplus of raw materials and goods left over from the war effort. Not knowing what to do with these materials, research was conducted into the everyday lives of average Americans to determine what goods and services they wanted and how these materials could be manufactured to satisfy those needs. The result of this effort was the "dawn of Marketing as we know it today. From that time forward, the direction of most of our businesses and industries has been determined more by the efforts of the marketing department than by the opinions of the owners, engineers and managers.

All this is leading to one undeniable conclusion: the very existence of our commercial and industrial sectors today depends upon their ability to "read" the future needs of you and I. Therefore, the jobs which exist today AND TOMORROW will be determined by what goods and services you and I want and believe are necessary to our lives. Understand this principle and you possess the necessary secret for identifying future employment opportunities. Understand how to "read" the needs of people who will live in the future and you'll understand which jobs will be in demand.

Predicting anything about the future including employment needs, to say the least, is a tricky business. Government agencies, professional organizations, and private individuals have all come forward to speak of what is yet to come. Who should we trust? In the absence of any proof that the future can be seen, we attempt to certify the forecasters by their means and devices. Government agencies, for example, employ thousands of individuals who gather millions of pieces of information, and with computers digest the numbers until the future is clear. Professional organizations and private individuals often use the same government data to come to similar or different conclusions, or armed with much less resources rely on their "gut feelings" about what is ahead. Who is the more accurate forecaster?

Surprisingly, both approaches have met with success and failure. A review of the literature generated by the feds over the last few decades will demonstrate how right and wrong they were in many cases. Same too with the information generated by the professional and private forecasters. However, notwithstanding the error rate, the predictions arrived at from the massive number crunching done by the federal government seems to be more accurate than inaccurate and more reliable than those from other sources.

How you can you best use the massive amount of data which exists from the federal government? By reviewing such publications as the Occupational Projections and Training Data (1990 Edition), Occupational Outlook Handbook (1990-91 Edition), and Outlook 2000, all published by the U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics, you can gain a good understanding about which occupations are expected to be in great, moderate, or low demand. [Note, these publications are available from the

With this information you can begin to shape your skills and knowledge in the direction of those occupations which will be in most demand and away from those projected to exit from our society. Tables 1 and 2 below contain information drawn from the Occupational Projections and Training Data (1990 Edition) on occupations in most and least demand (respectively). When viewing these lists, please keep in mind that they are partial lists. The lists here represent only the most in demand and least in demand occupations. The actual list as found in the Occupational Projections and Training Data publication contains information on hundreds of additional occupational areas.

For those "arm chair" forecasters among us, the possibility of predicting jobs of the future with respectable accuracy is also possible. Careful monitoring of and research into our daily lives will reveal much about the problems we face in our society. Discovering those problems which cause the most suffering will enable you often to see the future.

For example, few people would disagree that our society is currently dealing with such problems of AIDS, cancer, hazardous waste management, environmental pollution, literacy, education, rising crime, energy, and governmental fiscal mismanagement. Little evidence exists that these problems will soon be solved.

Using a strategy of careful research, you can in your current occupation discover the direction it will more than likely advance in the years ahead. To accomplish this, it is suggested you read as much as you can about your occupation, enroll in courses to keep abreast of the field, talk with other employees working in the same positions to learn their opinion of its direction, and (especially) talk to people who are served by your position. In short, learn as much as you can about what human needs and desires are best served by your profession and how they are best served.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

G: Dear...Search: Perhaps you can be of help to me. I have been employed with (name withheld) for just over four years which pretty much gives me seniority. The supervisor of our department has left the company for reasons which have not yet been established, but are believed to be due to lack of control over his employees. Upper management approached me almost immediately and asked me to take over the departmental supervision. At the same time they brought to my attention that they are aware there is a problem in taking advantage of days off, tardiness and extended lunches. I have been told by my superiors to curtail this problem immediately. I have worked with these people for a long time. How would you suggest that I approach this? My biggest concern is that these people were my co-workers and my friends as well. Now I am faced with having to supervise, discipline and review them. They think they have it made. Are there any key ideas that you can throw my way that will perhaps lessen the blow and help me to ease into this position? D.L. - Libertyville.

A: Dear D.L. Wow! Seems like a lot to have thrown in your lap all at once. I believe the first thing that I would do in your position would be to sit down and list what your own goals are and what is now expected of you from your superiors. The obvious problem to address is the absenteeism, tardiness and extended lunches. Speak with your superiors and ask if it would be okay to have a contest in your department to see who can have the most consecutive days without time missed. Suggest putting up a chart in your department. I once read where employees love to see their name up on a board followed by marks such as stars or stickers or anything that indicates top performance. If possible, see if you could offer a free lunch or dinner for two, a free day or half day off work, a gift certificate to a nearby mall or any special token. If this is in agreement with your superiors, call a meeting of your staff either on a one on one or as a group. Know what it is you want to convey to them. Let them know that you take your position seriously. Further explain that it is important that you get this situation under control and that you would appreciate their cooperation. Explain the idea behind the contest. If in fact you can motivate them into changing their ways, you will not only be helping your company, but making your life and job easier as well. Good luck!

Radiation: When disaster strikes

Since the end of the Cold War, most people do not worry about "the day after" becoming a reality. Although nuclear weapons are not as much of a threat as before, there are people who come in contact with harmful materials every day. Materials that can kill.

Though the last radiation accident in Lake County occurred about one year ago when an employee of the Zion Nuclear Power Plant fell off a ladder and was exposed to radiation, the man was not seriously injured.

With the nuclear power plant in Lake County, radiation exposure is an every day threat. Untreated radiation exposure can result in three levels of radiation sickness: Level One can cause influenza-type symptoms such as nausea, vomiting, diarrhea; weakness and hair loss are reactions that can occur with Level Two, and Level Three, the most severe, leads to immune system breakdown, and affects blood cells and body organs, said Lee Lanes, Emergency Preparedness Coordinator at Commonwealth Edison's Zion Nuclear Generating Station.

Specialty: President/ Owner of Body Works in Palatine

Personal: Married to George Telthorst for five years, manufacturing with Baxter Health Care, has a newborn girl, Laura.

Christine Telthorst believes in the community, which is why she is involved with the Jazzercise company. She also has done community services in the form of charity works such as collections and food drives, and also is a member of the Chamber of Commerce in Palatine.

Having grown up in Ohio with two sisters and one brother, Telthorst has been subjected to many professions, including the Marathon Oil industry and real estate, which her parents were involved in. But Jazzercise was something she could do for her herself and still maintain time with her family.

"I was looking for a career to do while caring for my children and Jazzercise seemed to fit that bill," she said. "I could teach while working full-time, and still care for the family."

Telthorst began Jazzercise about 10 years ago. And she likes where she is. Though practicing philosophies vary, Telthorst focuses on safety in the programs.

"We are trained and monitored that all the steps are correct," she said. "We have a physiologist to refer to and we take time to stretch out so that cause of injury is reduced."

In the wee hours of the morning, having a sick child can be a lonely and frightening experience. Many parents spend anxious moments trying to comfort their babies while frantically searching the how-to books for answers.

When her baby daughter took ill, one mom reached instead for the telephone.

"It was 2 a.m. and my daughter had a 103 degree fever," recalls Sue Basinger of Lindenhurst. "I called ASK-A-NURSE."

"As a new mom, I need reassurance about the best way to care for my daughter. It's a relief to know that ASK-A-Nurse will answer my health care questions day or night," she said.

ASK-A-NURSE, a free health information and physician referral service, has been operating through Saint Therese Medical Center for the past two years, serving the community through a grand total of more than 70,000 calls. The volume of calls and the diversity of callers require the registered nurses who staff the hotline to meet the challenge of defining and evaluating the individual patient's need over the telephone.

"One of the biggest challenges is trying to get a clear picture of the caller's needs," explains Nancy Matesevac, RN, product manager, who has also served as a resource nurse answering calls for ASK-A-NURSE.

The 15 nurses who staff the telephone service have been specially trained to provide answers over the phone and are adept at handling set computer protocols that help them to lead callers through a series of questions to determine what action is needed.

The registered nurses—who worked about four per shift—come from diverse backgrounds, including obstetrics, pediatrics, surgery, psychiatry, emergency medical services, general medical surgical and medical office work.

"Every nurse brings a different piece of experience to ASK-A-NURSE," Matesevac explains.

"A nurse who receives a suicide call, for example, may feel more comfortable transferring that call over to the nurse who has had a psychiatric background," she said. "Our resource nurses all help each other, and their expertise ultimately helps the caller."

Because the service is confidential, callers are not required to give their names and telephone numbers. However, many do, Matesevac says, and staff is able to call to follow up—especially with patients who required emergency care.

A spectrum of questions challenge the nurses to provide callers with helpful information and referral to appropriate community resources.

"Getting information about kids is difficult because it's really third-hand information," says Matesevac. "Patients unsure of their diagnosis may call to validate their perception, and that's not something we can do."

The Challenge of Caring for an Older Adult

Wednesday, March 17, 1993 7-8 p.m.

William W. Lee, Ed.D, ABMP

Staff Psychologist

Saint Therese Medical Center

Ninety-five percent of older persons live in the community and wish to remain independent as long as possible. Aging, intellectual changes, chronic illness, role changes, retirement, isolation and loss are just a few of the transition problems this population faces.

This presentation is to help primary caregivers understand the problems and needs of the older adult and to help these caregivers assist in teaching them to change, and to take control of their lives.

Dr. Lee is a staff psychologist with Saint Therese Medical Center, and is in private practice in Waukegan.

Pasta with a difference

Pasta is a popular choice for delicious meals. In the past pasta was considered a no because most recipes contained too much cholesterol or fat. The difference with the recipe below is that it contains very little of each. Pasta made without meat, cream or butter can be a very healthy choice and still delicious. Try the recipes below and experiment with your own choices of vegetables to create a pasta dish with your own style.

Salmon filled mushroom caps

1 7 1/2 oz. can salmon without bones
2 Tbls. fine dry breadcrumbs
2 Tbls. green onion, finely chopped
2 Tbls. parsley, snipped
18 1 1/2-inch fresh mushroom caps, washed and well drained
2 Tbls. canned pimiento, diced
3 Tbls. margarine, melted

In a small mixing bowl, combine salmon, breadcrumbs, green onion, and snipped parsley. Remove mushroom stems from caps; reserve stems for another recipe. Place mushroom caps in a 15 x 10 x 1-inch baking pan, crown side down. Mound salmon mixture into caps. Place a little pimiento on top of each cap. Cover and chill 3-24 hours.

To serve, uncover, drizzle with margarine, and bake at 350 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes or until tender.

Makes 18 appetizers or 6 servings of 3 mushrooms each.

Pasta with tomato, eggplant, and bell pepper sauce

2 Tbls. olive oil
10 medium tomatoes (about 2 lbs.) ,peeled, cored, seeded, and coarsely chopped
1 large eggplant, unpeeled, cut into bite-size cubes
4 large red bell peppers, cored, seeded, and cut into bite-size pieces
1/2 tsp. hot pepper flakes
1 Tbl. herbs de Provence
1 lb. rotini, or tubular pasta

Heat olive oil in large, deep-sided skillet over medium-high heat. Add tomatoes and eggplant. Sauté about 10 minutes, stirring from time to time. Add bell peppers and season with pepper flakes and herbs de Provence. Cover and simmer gently about 1 hour. Just before serving, bring a large pot of water to rolling boil. Add pasta and cook just until tender. Drain.

To serve, divide pasta evenly among dinner plates. Spoon sauce over pasta, allowing each diner to toss the pasta when served. Serves:6

Strawberry mousse angel pie

This low-fat mousse filling is rich and satisfying, with an intense fruit flavor. This may be served with fresh berries, if desired.

Graham cracker crust:

1 1/4 cups graham cracker crumbs
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup diet margarine, melted

Filling:

1 12 oz. pkg. frozen unsweetened strawberries thawed, or 2 baskets
3 tsp. unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup orange juice
1 1/2 Tbls. fresh lemon juice
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
2 Tbls. Cointreau or other orange flavored liqueur
1 1/2 cups nonfat yogurt

To make crust: Combine crumbs and sugar in bowl. Mix in margarine. Using a spoon spread crumbs across bottom and up the sides of a 9-inch pie plate. Bake at 350 degrees 6 to 8 minutes.

To make filling: Set a few strawberries aside in the refrigerator for garnish. In a food processor or blender, puree the remaining strawberries and juice. Set aside.

In a small saucepan, sprinkle gelatin over 1/2 cup cold water. Let stand for about 3 minutes to soften. Stir in orange or apple juice and lemon juice. Heat over low heat, stirring, for 1 to 3 minutes to soften. Stir in orange juice and lemon juice. Heat over low heat, stirring for 1 to 3 minutes or until gelatin is dissolved. Add the reserved puree, sugar and salt. Increase heat to medium and cook, stirring for 3 to 4 minutes, or until sugar is dissolved. Remove from heat and stir in liqueur.

Pour the strawberry mixture into a heat-proof bowl and set over a larger pan of ice water. Stir gently for 10 to 20 minutes, or until the mixture thickens to the consistency of raw egg whites. Whisk in yogurt. Pour into the graham cracker crust. Cover loosely with foil and refrigerate until set, for at least 3 hours or for up to 8 hours. Garnish with the reserved strawberries and mint sprigs. Serves:10 ment can lead to survival. But if exposed too long at a severe degree, the result could be death.

Zion Fire Department Captain Ron Levin recalled that there has been one nuclear accident in the United States — at Three Mile Island in 1979 — and it was not of great significance. Severe radiation contamination did occur during the Chernobyl nuclear accident in the Ukraine in 1986, and all the firefighters that fought that blaze are now dead, according to Levin.

In 1991, when Victory Memorial Hospital in Waukegan was remodeling the emergency room area, Commonwealth Edison donated $25,000 to fund the building and for the equipping of a special Decontamination Room — the only one in Lake County.

The next-closest decontamination unit is in Rockford, Ill.

The room at Victory was built as a precaution in case of a radiation contamination accident at the Zion Station, but no significant accident has occurred in the almost 20 years since it went on-line in the summer of 1973, according to a Commonwealth Edison Radiation Supervisor at the facility.

Emergency room staff at Victory are trained through simulations and drills coordinated by Commonwealth Edison, to handle a radiation contaminated victim.

"The biggest thing in a contamination injury is the injury itself," said Lanes. "The contamination can always be handled, usually with a washing off; lesser levels of radiation contamination sit on the skin and can be rinsed away with water."

Zion radiation technicians, called RAD-Techs, wash the victim down, then paramedics use a separate, emergency-vehicle bay and door when they bring the contamination victim into the Decontamination Room.

Commonwealth Edison sends a technician along as well to constantly monitor the victim, the contamination level, the safety procedures, everything that happens, explained Cynthia Amatangelo, an emergency room nurse at Victory.

Everyone in the

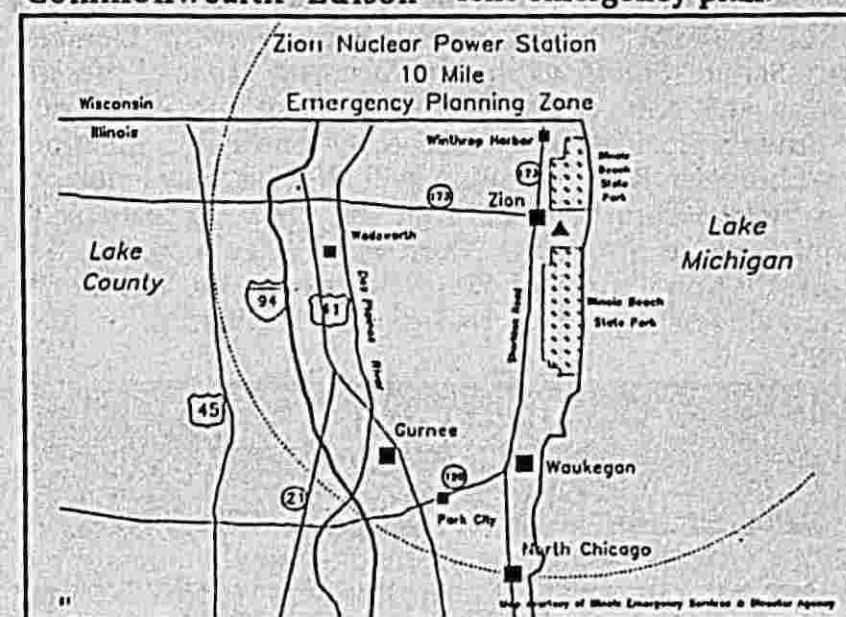

Decontamination Room wears protective coverings and is carefully monitored by the Geiger counter instrument to check for possible radiation contamination.

Radiation contamination drills are held periodically at Victory Memorial to help prepare the emergency room staff to handle radiation contamination. Commonwealth Edison runs the mock drills, and everyone involved takes them seriously.

Despite the radiation level that comes from the Zion plant, most officials agree that a situation like Chernobyl will not occur because of the technology available to the area.

"People don't have to worry about Zion," said Lanes. "We have an excellent emergency plan."

Protect dogs from deadly heartworms

Dog owners should be reminded that the mosquito season is around the corner and with it comes the risk of dogs contracting heartworms. These worms enter the dog's body through the bite of an infected mosquito. They develop into adult worms in the dog's heart. With time, symptoms of heart disease develop and the dog eventually deteriorates. In the initial stages of the disease there are no symptoms at all.

Fortunately this dreadful condition is easily prevented. Medication given in the summer is now available and it is very effective, inexpensive and easy to administer. Dog owners should ask their veterinarians between now and June to start the annual summer heartworm prevention regimen.

Dear Delores,

This common and crippling condition is hereditary. That means that it is present in the bloodlines. The only way to get rid of it is through breeding of animals free of hip dysplasia. Efforts in this direction have been made for years. We still have a long way to go, since our main diagnostic techniques such as X-rays are not sensitive enough

There is help available. Since the poorly formed hips eventually lead to development of arthritis, severely affected patients may benefit from anti-inflammatory therapy for arthritis. Old and severely damaged hips can be replaced with artificial implants. If diagnosed early enough, the joints may be modified by

Ways to give homes decorating facelifts

Does this sound familiar? Your house has lost its zip—if it ever had it—and everything in it has started to look tired and blah. A total pull-out-the-stops redecoration is out of the question—you have neither the financial resources or the energy—but you feel the need to do something to spruce things up a bit. What do you do?

With a little ingenuity and effort, plus a relatively small amount of money, you can revitalize your tired rooms by refurbishing what you have, discarding or concealing what you hate, and spending for those extra-special accents that will give your home a fresh new look.

Some of the most effective quick fixes for outdated rooms are the simplest or least expensive. Try to look at your home as objectively as possible to determine which pieces have potential for a new life, which are fine as they are, and which are unsalvageable. Then figure out how to improve the ones that fall in the first category, move around the ones that fall into the second, and get rid of those in the third category.

Following are some tips from design experts for bringing new life to your home:

- Use furniture placement to add interest to boxy rooms or those that lack architectural details. Experiment with furniture placed on the diagonal, or perhaps perpendicular to the wall instead of against it. Create interesting angles with area rugs.

- Richly colored walls can put an entirely new perspective on a room.

For dramatic effect, try a deep-toned color for your walls, such as navy, burgundy, or dark green, an especially effective backdrop for lighter furniture and light ground print fabric. Or select a lively bright color to cheer up lifeless rooms.

- Decorative screens are not only easy to make, but they are one of the most versatile decorative accessories. Add a color accent to a room by gathering fabric panels on a hinged frame, or cover plywood hinged panels with fabric stretched over polyester batting.

They can create interest in a dull corner, conceal unsightly radiators or viewless windows, or provide hidden storage space.

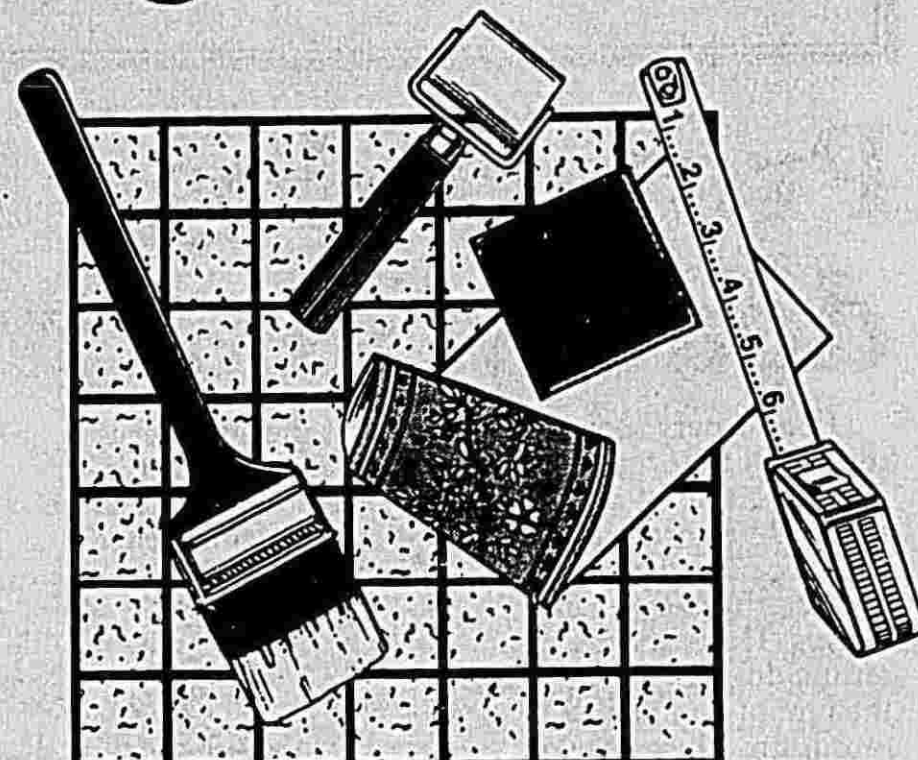

- If a room lacks architectural interest, add decorative moldings or wallpaper borders. Used at a chair-rail height, they create an illusion of spaciousness, while those placed just below the ceiling can give a room a feeling of more height.

- Rather than plain painted walls, add textural interest with a subtly patterned wallcovering.

- If your room lacks a strong focal point, this may be the area in which to invest. A wonderful patterned rug or a striking painting, for example, can set the tone for the room and help you choose complementary colors.

- Fabrics often are the simplest and least expensive way to freshen a room.

If you can't afford new upholstery, and your old pieces have good lines and several years of wear left in them, it may make sense to have inexpensive slipcovers made. You can even add padding under the slipcovers and new fuller cushions. If your upholstery is too sleek and linear instead of sumptuous and overstuffed. Choose a complementary fabric to update your window treatments.

- Nothing creates a quicker change than a new bed ensemble for your bedroom.

With the enormous diversity of styles available from companies, you can create an entirely different look with the purchase of a new bed ensemble, coordinated window treatment, and decorative accessories such as lamps and rugs.

If you are handy with a needle, cover an old blanket or comforter with new fabric. Get a few extra yards of fabric to upholster a simple plywood headboard using a staple gun, and consider upholstering the walls as well.

Or try a simple bed canopy by hanging fabric from a ring mounted on the wall over the bed. Use leftover fabric to cover a chair seat. Your minimal investment in time and money will certainly pay off in a fresh new look for your home.

Tips, advice for spring home repairs

Spring marks the start of home project season. But unless you're the next Bob Vila, you probably will encounter your share of questions as you tackle your project list. Experts offer the following home improvement tips and advice.

Circular saw blades

Question: This summer I'm planning a number of building projects that will give my circular saw a good workout. My problem is that I will be doing a variety of cutting chores, including rip-pings, crosscutting and cutting tough materials. Can I buy one blade that will handle most of my cutting jobs?

Answer: A growing number of thicker circular saw blades that offer high performance and great value are available. One example is the Irwin Marathon carbide-tipped blade. The thinner kerf (blade thickness) means a faster, cleaner, more precise cut. Tests show this C3 carbide tipped blade will cut faster and last up to six times longer than other circular saw blades.

For a brochure on saw blades and other power tool accessories, write to

The Irwin Co., 92 Grant St., Dept. LTVP1, Wilmington, OH 45177.

Wood heating

Question: We're planning to remodel an unfinished attic space and would like to include a fireplace or woodstove for cozy warmth. We have two concerns: Limited space, and the additional cost a fireplace and chimney will add to the total cost of the project. Do we have any options?

Answer: Check out the lineup of pellet-fired appliances (PFAs) now available. PFAs look like woodstoves on the outside, but burn pellets made from renewable wastes such as sawdust wood scraps or recycled cardboard.

PFAs require only a couple inches of clearance from walls, and many models use a simple vent to discharge exhaust gases.

For more information, send a self-addressed No. 10 envelope to: Fiber Fules Institute, 5013 Miller Trunk Hwy., Dept. MM, Duluth, MN 55811.

Painting new drywall Question: We just

Painted room addition and find that the seams where the drywall panels come together are visible. What did we do wrong?

Answer: The problem is a difference in texture and porosity between the face paper and the taping compound used over the seams.

The two different surfaces absorb paint at slightly different rates. That fact, along with the differences in texture, can result in a noticeable sheen variation between the drywall surface and the treated joints after the walls are painted.

To avoid this phenomenon again, called "joint banding" or "photographing," replace your ordinary wall primers or sealers with special primers such as United States Gypsum Company's First Coat, which balances the differences for an even surface to paint over. These primers, available at home centers nationwide, can be applied by brush, roller or with spray equipment.

Installing bathroom fixtures

Question: I plan to install a new toilet paper holder and towel bars on a ceramic tile bathroom wall, but I don't want to drill screw holes in the ceramic tiles to hold the fixtures. Is there any alternative fastening method for installing the bath fixtures?

Answer: You can use a construction adhesive, rather than mechanical fasteners such as screws, to install flushmounted bathroom fixtures on ceramic tile walls. A handy one for household projects is DAP's Beats Nails in a squeeze tube.

Just clean the tile with alcohol to remove any soap scum. Then apply the adhesive to the fixture according to product label directions, and press the fixture firmly in place against the tile.

Use duct tape or masking tape to hold fixtures in place until the adhesive cures, usually overnight. Wash up any new adhesive spills immediately, using warm water.

Storm doors

Question: I want to replace my screen door but I'm reluctant to do so because my son wrecks the screens as quickly as I repair them. Any ideas on how I can save my screens yet still let spring breezes through the front door?

Answer: One kid- and pet-proof solution to your problem might be a new solid-core storm door such as the Cambridge Series Model 1530 from Cole Sewell. This door features a unique 3-Track Self-Storing Window System.

Unlike ordinary storm doors with limited ventilation flexibility, the 3-track system permits a full-length screen plus two window panels that move independently. To solve the damaged screen problem, you can easily move window panels to the lowest position and keep ventilation through the top. That way your kids can push on glass, not screen. Otherwise, the two panels adjust to many other ventilation positions.

For literature on Cole Sewell products, call (800)328-6596 or write to the company, at 2288 W. University Ave., Dept. SM93, St. Paul, MN 55114.

why, whenever it snows, my neighbor thinks that all his snow should go on my side of the property and not on his side. My snow doesn't melt for three weeks after his does. My snow should go on my side; his snow should go on his side. I hope he sees this.

Bad Drivers

I'm an Antioch resident who moved from the northeast about a year and a half ago, and I just want to say that you are the worst drivers of automobiles I've ever met in my life. You are the rudest drivers I've seen anywhere.

Spend At Home, First

Why does the village of Fox Lake have out-of-state trucks haul its salt? It should give some local trucking firms have the chance, rather than those from Wisconsin.

Who Comes First?

I've heard the Antioch superintendent and principal say that the students come first. If that is your philosophy, I've got a few questions for you. How come your offices got redecorated when there aren't enough chairs in the commons kids to sit on? How could you hire a public relations specialist and purchase a new computer system for the business office when you're warning us that there may be deep cutbacks next year? How could you go out to lunch when the teachers need help with discipline? My vote on the referendum will be no until the both of you are gone.

I'll Give My Money

I'm calling about the article "Work Starts On School Tax Referendum." I just want to say that I'm all for it. Keep up the good work. We need to support this effort. Anybody who would vote against giving more money to our schools to teach our children must have something wrong with them. These are the people who, in 15 to 20 years, will be running our country. They will be in the police department, in government, running local business, etc. Withholding money from the kids is low. There shouldn't even be a referendum; the schools should get the money automatically if it is going to help our children.

Plethora Of Answers

I've got three things on which to comment. No. 1: Enough about the handicap parking. These people are just going to do what they want and let's just hope they get caught. No. 2: About the Round Lake area. I live here and I love it. You've got to be honest. There isn't a day that goes by that you don't hear about teens having guns, fighting, etc. No. 3: After reading the paper and seeing all the new businesses that are planned to come here, I've got a question. What ever happened to the Ponderosa? How about getting one of those Old Country Buffets? We have enough fast food and department stores around here. Anybody agree with me?

Tossing Light On A Problem

I just read the article about Mayday call comes from forgotten side. It was about the strip of businesses on Rte. 134 in downtown Round Lake Park. You must be joking. This is not the forgotten side; it is the avoided side. I avoid giving people directions coming down Rte. 134 because that strip of road is an embarrassment. Let's do a Mayday celebration for the kids, but let's not avoid the issue here by putting new street lights and calling that a new look. Those buildings need to be fixed up, side walks need to be fixed, abandoned buildings need to be either torn down or fixed up, the old gas station is deplorable. Something needs to be done. This is an absolute joke.

Cable Rates Rise, Again!

I'm from Wauconda. I'm sure that everyone from Wauconda noticed that our cable rates went up again. Every year it goes up seven percent. The cable company claims it's due to expenses, yet none of the employees have received a 7 percent increase and the rate of inflation is well below 3 percent. The cable company keeps taking more and more money from us. It should be treated like a utility and be regulated. It's getting ridiculous. I hope some of the newly elected politicians will do something about the crooks at the cable company.

Is It Kidnapping?

I'm calling in response to "Never Know The Joy." The lady called about non-handicapped people parking in a handicap parking place. She said she was going to park behind people who do this and call the police. I think somebody should inform this lady that it is against the law to hold somebody against their will (vehicle included), and she may be subject to lawsuits concerning this.

Thanks, Lipservice

I'm the student from Grant. Thanks for printing the first and second calls, and not the third. I called in when I didn't see my second call. A week later, I saw the call. Thank you.

Schools net awards for attendance

During the dog days of winter, it's difficult for children to drag themselves out of a warm bed and get dressed for school. It's for that reason that elementary schools from across Lake County participated in the first Lake County Winter Elementary School Attendance Week in February.

The event was sponsored by Project PASS (Lake County Center for Dropout Prevention) and Ed Gonwa, Lake County regional superintendent of schools.

All school in the county were eligible to be recognized by the regional superintendent for excellence in their weekly attendance rate.

The top 12 reporting schools in the event were W.J. Murphy School in Round Lake, Neal School in North Chicago, Woodview School in Grayslake, Butterfield School in Libertyville, Indian Hill School in Round Lake, Mechanics Grove School in Mundelein, Beach School in Round Lake, Stanton School in Fox Lake, West Oak School in Diamond Lake, Hawthorne Junior High School in Vernon Hills, Adler Park School in Libertyville and Copeland Manor School in Libertyville.

Even though Lake County was surprised by the flu bug during the week of the event, winning schools reported weekly attendance rates ranging from 93 percent to 96.6 percent.

Township to get new high school this fall

Lakeland Newspapers

The residents of Lake Villa Township will be getting a new high school this fall, but it will have nothing to do with the expansion plans of Antioch Community District 117.

Calvary Christian School in Lake Villa, which now enrolls classes up to the 10th grade, will begin to teach 11th and 12th grade students beginning this fall.

At a news conference on March 12, school officials introduced the plans for the new school after introducing Rodney Davis as the school's new principal.

According to Davis, the school will continue to instruct the school's present 10th grade students this fall as the school adds an 11th grade. The school will add the 12th grade the following fall, which will complete many of the school's parents dreams of graduating the school's first group of students to receive their entire education at Calvary Christian School.

The school has plans for the construction of a new science lab and several new classrooms. School officials are evaluating the curriculum to provide the best education possible for students.

"I believe that if something is living it must grow or it will die," said Davis. "Our goal is to grow in enrollment, but more important, to help each student strive for excellence and spiritual, emotional, social and physical development."

The school will be the township's only accredited high school in September 1994.

"This is something we can not only look forward to, but be proud of," said Davis.

Dist. 41 hires 'best of the best' for top job

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

Lake Villa School District 41, after more than a year of deliberation and searching, hired what one board member called "the best of the best" candidate for the district's top post.

In a unanimous 7-0 vote, the school board voted to hire Dr. Alan E. Simon to a three-year contract at $88,000 per year. Simon's contract begins July 1 and ends June 30, 1996.

Simon, who is presently the superintendent of Winfield Public School District 34, will begin his tenure with the Lake Villa district by giving the district what he called "a strategic plan and vision."

"There is a need for the district to have vision and plan for the future," said Simon. "Planning is needed in curriculum, building and finance issues."

The new superintendent plans integrate the curriculum so the subject matter a student learns one day connects with all future learning.

"Sequential learning, learning that is real is what I will strive for," said Simon.

Simon plans also include the need to maintain present facilities, while planning for the expansion of the district in the future.

As for his feelings on joining the district, Simon told a group of parents and teachers at a reception in his honor, "I think the community and the board for the opportunity to help the district go as far as we can go."

SHARE/food stretches area grocery budgets

Making those food dollars stretch is always a challenge. But the SHARE/Food program sponsored locally by the Antioch Exchange Club can help food dollars go a long way.

SHARE/Food members pay $15 per month and two hours of volunteer time. In exchange they get a well-balanced package of food worth more than $40. The package typically contains several types of meat, various vegetables, fruits, plus staples such as pasta, rice and cereals. The food is high-quality and brand name and the package also contains a newsletter with recipes and meal plans.

SHARE/Food is not a government subsidized program and anyone, regardless of economic status, can join. Members pay their $15 and commit to two hours a month of volunteer service. The volunteer hours can be spent helping package and distribute the Share/Food packages.

To sign up for this program, bring their money to one of the following locations by 1 p.m. March 13: State Bank of Antioch, First National Bank of Antioch, Lake Villa Township Office, and the State Bank of Antioch Lindenhurst Facility.

Pick up will be on March 27 at the Antioch Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall from 9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.

SHARE (Self-Help and Resource Exchange) founded in 1983, is a non-profit, grass roots organization with outreach to communities in Chicago, Northern Illinois, Indiana and Southern Michigan.

County food drive begins March 13

Lake County is one of the richest counties in the United States. Yet, between Lake Cook Road and the Wisconsin border, there are many families who live in poverty and cannot afford to feed their children.

According to the annual survey conducted by the Lake County Food Resource Council, 31 food pantries, eight soup kitchens and the PADS program in Lake County reported assisting county families by providing them with 638,574 free meals in 1992. To the number in a different context, those meals would be the equivalent of one meal for every resident of Lake County.

During the holidays, the individual consumer is apt to think of the less fortunate, who are hungry or homeless, as plans for family gathering occupy their thoughts. At this time of year, people are more willing to give money or donate food to the less fortunate.

Unfortunately, there are hungry people 365 days a year, and it is a public illusion that the need is higher around the holidays. Actually, the need for donated food tends to be greatest in late winter when food pantry shelves are the emptiest. As the need for food is ongoing, the winter months are a good time to give to those in need.

From March 13 through March 20, the Lake County Food Resource Council will be conducting its sixth annual All Lake County-Hunger Awareness Food Drive. The drive is held annual to help replenish the shelves made bare by heavy winter demands on Lake County food pantries. The drive will also involve the efforts of the Northeast Council, Boy Scouts of America and the Lake County Life Underwriters Assn. who have planned their annual drives to supplement the efforts of the Food Resource Council.

In an effort to make the drive county-wide, food will be collected at schools, churches, businesses and other agencies. In fact, 200 Lake County churches, 56 schools and 26 major county corporations are also supporting this year's drive.

Individual are urged to drop off food at local fire stations or participating public libraries. On March 20, the food will be collected and brought to The Popcorn Factory near Libertyville. The food will be sorted, boxed and distributed to 30 county food pantries and soup kitchens.

This year's honorary drive chairman is Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson.

Mundelein's dream reaches the next level

by ALEC JUNGE
Lakeland Newspapers

The team could not contain its enthusiasm as fans rushed to the floor and players took turns cutting down the net as Mundelein captured its first regional boys basketball title in 20 years.

Mundelein overcame history, a five-point deficit with two minutes remaining and an impressive Highland Park team to earn a hard-fought 53-51 win.

"We talked about goals and dreams and achieving them," Mundelein Coach Dennis Kessel said. "I want you to dream and visualize it in your mind, winning and cutting down the nets."

At the two-minute mark the dream seemed to turn into a nightmare to the visiting Mustangs, as the Giants held a 51-46 advantage. The Mustangs cut the deficit to two on a three-pointer by Matt Brua with 1:07 remaining. "We set a reverse screen for Matt and he hit a tough three," Coach Kessel said.

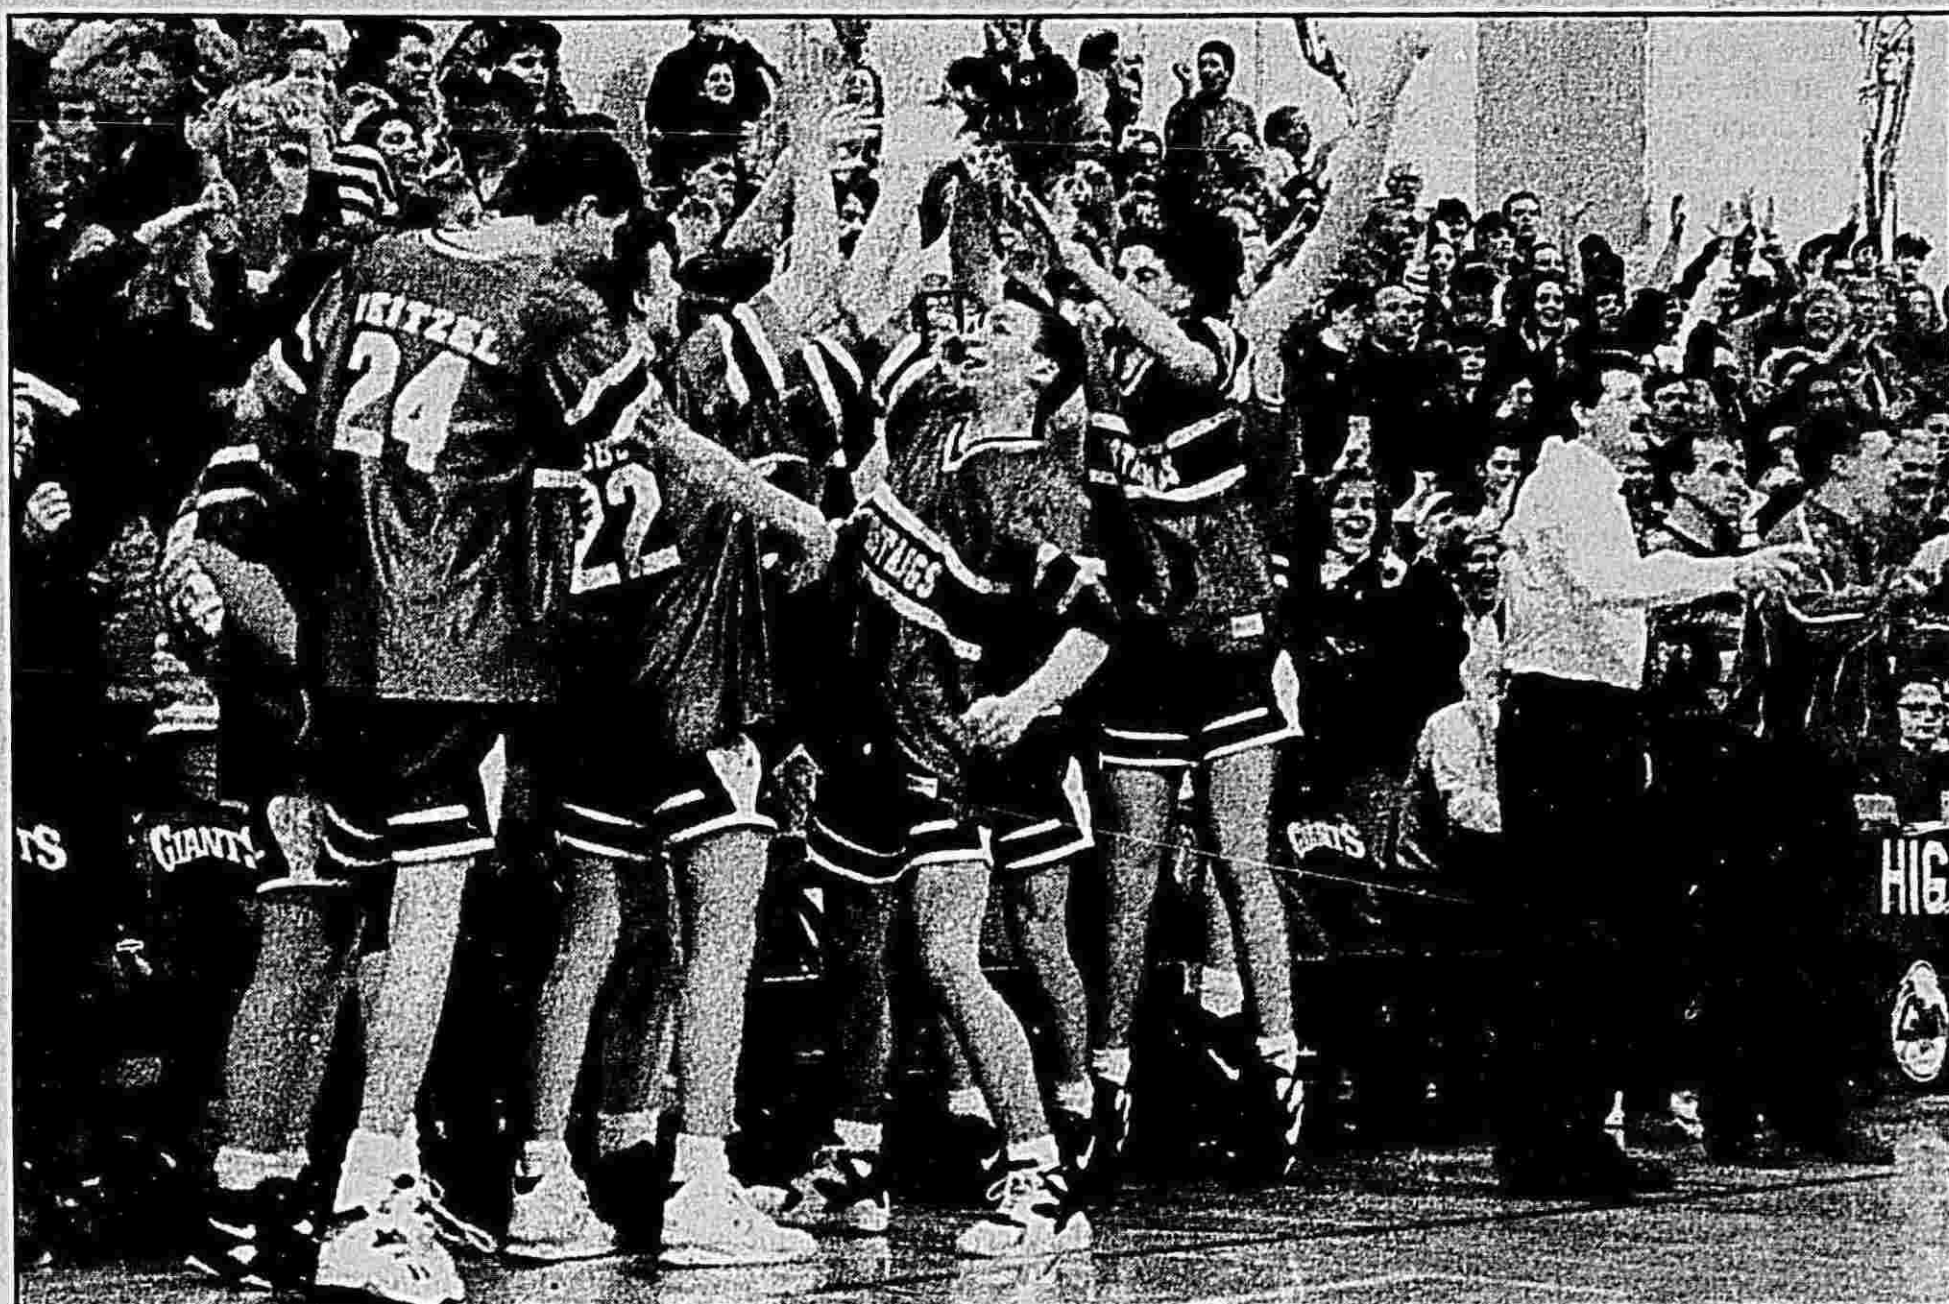

After a Highland Park timeout, Kyle Kessel picked the ball clean and sank the tying lay-up with :54 left. "I went for it. I was lucky to get the ball and I made the lay-up," Kessel, a junior, said.

The Giants held the ball until Matt Ledford missed on a drive to the hoop with 10 seconds left on the clock. The Mustangs grabbed the rebound headed up court but a Highland Park player tipped the ball out of bounds with three seconds left. The 19th win of the season was in Mundelein's destiny.

Mundelein set up a final in-bounds play to Brian McMahon. He was fouled with two seconds left, calmly sank both free throws.

There was still the matter of a half-court shot by Ledford. The crowd was silent before the heave fell short in front of the rim.

"We thought they would play Matt in the corner and the middle would be open. I didn't even think about Brian being a 47 percent free-throw shooter," Kessel said.

"The players (Giants) said 'no pressure'. I laughed at them," McMahon, a transfer from Carmel, said.

The Mustangs needed the hot shooting of senior Brua (22 points), the inside scoring of Thad Miller (10 points) and a fourth-quarter surge by Kyle Kessel to gain the win. "He had a great game; he's a shooter," Kessel said of Brua.

"I didn't want it to end. I don't want it to end," Brua said.

It was a close game throughout. The first quarter was set at a frenzied pace ending in a 14-14 tie. Neither team had more than a five-point lead.

The Mustangs' largest lead 32-27 in the third on a Brua jumper with five minutes left. Highland Park stormed back outscoring Mundelein 15-8 in the final minutes in the third, helped by three's from David Klow and Chris Luckman.

"It was a well-played game by both sides.

It was the type of game you would expect with the fourth (Highland Park) and fifth seed (Mundelein), it was back and forth and little separated us. You have to hand it to Mundelein. Brua came through on a tough three and Kessel came up with the steal," Highland Park Coach Mike Kolze said.

Mundelein was hoping the dream could continue for another game when it faced Waukegan in the Stevenson sectional semi-finals.

Culotta's improvement complete with MVP honor

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Tim Culotta started to make an impact in Grant basketball fortunes last year.

It may not have been noticed much, though, as the Bulldogs suffered through a 7-19 season. This year, he combined inside and outside shooting abilities to a 15 points per game average for Northwest Suburban Conference games. For his efforts, the senior was named most valuable player in the NWSC.

"Tim had some numbers on last year's team, but it took a year of maturity both in terms of talent and attitude. We are pleased with his play at both ends of the court," Grant Coach Tom Maple said.

The Bulldogs finished 17-9 this year, 12-3 and winning the NWSC title for the first time in six years. Grant won the league crown by three games over Grayslake and Round Lake.

Culotta was one of three Grant players named to the 10-member all-conference team. Junior Mike Ingram, 14.2 points a game in conference play and senior Nelson Anderson, 12.2 points a game, were the others.

"I feel that is quite a tribute to have three players on the all-conference team," Maple said.

Seniors earning all-conference honors included: Todd Freund of Johnsburg (9-16); Scott Ellenwood of Round Lake (14-12) and Byron Johnson of Wauconda (8-18).

Grayslake appears to be the team of the future in the NWSC. The Rams reached the .500 mark at 13-13 and have Dave Mandralla, a sharpshooting sophomore and Geoff Sponholtz, a 6-4 junior, leading returning players.

Dirk Stanger and Matt Ambramvicius were Marian Central selections.

Round Lake led the way in the special mention list as three Panthers, all seniors, were chosen. Honored were: Aaron Yazzie, Ben Buchannon and Vinnie Lira.

Grant guard Lou Notriano was selected along with senior Steve Taylor of Grayslake, Rob Fehling of Johnsburg, Sean Balke and Phil Sanew of Wauconda and Andy Lobo of Marian Central.

The post-season play results were similar for Wednesday night results as they were Tuesday with all conference teams being eliminated. Grant fell to Stevenson 88-56 and Johnsburg lost to Rockford Guilford 76-50.

"Even in the couple of scoring opportunities, we struggled," Maple said.

Grant led 7-0 at the outset.

"Then our point guard (Notriano) got into foul trouble and we could not handle their full-court pressure. Their half-court pressure was pretty good, too," Maple said.

Stevenson standout Kenyon Cathings came back from a stomach illness. It was 28 points from Jason Justus and 11 from guards Mark Finn and Ryan Scully which did more damage.

Ingram had 14 points to lead Grant.

Fehling scored 21 points in Johnsburg's loss to second seed Rockford Guilford in the Rockford Harlem sectional.

Most NSC stars will return

North Suburban Conference girls basketball fans can be sure that some familiar faces will be back on the court next year. The conference honored eight underclassmen on its 15-member all-NSC team.

Conference champ Stevenson leads the way with three of its four selections back for 1993-94. They are: freshmen Tauja Catchings and Katie Coleman and junior Danielle Mall. Tina Stops made the all-league team as a senior.

Libertyville's junior trio of Kelly Karl,

Sarah Weiss and Lindsey Celba all return. The second-place Wildcats made it to the Sweet Sixteen before they were knocked off by eventual state runner-up Maine West.

Sophomore Lindsay Prezell of Mundelein will also be back as well as sophomore Julie Gryszkiewicz of Zion-Benton.

Stevenson won the conference with a 15-1 record. Libertyville was second at 13-3, followed by Fenton at 12-4 and Warren at 11-5.

Carmel, Williams meet their match in Waukegan

When Waukegan hit its first basket of the night, Carmel basketball fans may have had an inkling.

By the second or third, it became obvious the home Bulldogs were on their way. By the fourth, the possible margin of victory could be grasped - 70-46.

"I have seen them play a few times and they fit the bill of the No. 1 seed," Carmel coach Scott Rosberg said. "They must have hit their first seven or eight shots they took."

onship. Waukegan (20-4) moved on to the semifinals of the Stevenson sectional while Carmel (11-16) went home.

Senior Jermaine Williams led Carmel's efforts with 23 points. He got them the hard way, making only nine-for-29 from the field. "Ronzeyl Newsome did an outstanding job on him and handled our pressure we threw at him well," Roseberg said. "We got off 69 shots, but we shot terribly."

Carmel regained composure to outscore the Bulldogs 16-11 in the second and lost the third by a respectable 17-14, but the damage had been done.

After Williams, the next highest scorer was Landon Rose with six points.

Manuel Stutts had 19 points to lead Waukegan's inside game and Newsome added 10.

Williams finished with a 20 points-per-game average and led the county win three-pointers with 84.

"He took more three-pointers this year because we needed him to. Last year we had Chris Mohr and Pete Eisenbarth. I knew he had the ability to shoot the three," Rosberg said.

The Carmel mentor was seeking his third straight regional title win over his long-time Carmel boss, Waukegan Coach Frank Belmont. The Corsairs survived a scare from Lake Zurich to reach the regional final.

Burr shakes off doubters, foes in show

One thing for sure you can say about the Grant High offense. Coach Tom Maple had always believed it is better to take the closest way possible to two points.

Until this year. Grant made fans spin their heads more than once in the crowded

Burr said.

Warren's Ron Larsen looked like he was in good shape to earn first-place with an eight but after that first one by Burr, look out.

"I got into a zone," Burr said.

Warren's Mark Leginski and Stevenson's Blake Consdorf earned the other two sectional spots with five and four treys from the baseline in a shootout. Both are seniors.

Warren junior Tony Schultz also had a five in the shootout, but did not challenge in the shootout.

"I practiced a lot," Burr said. He added most of his treys in the season came on an out-of-bounds play.

Burr's family and a few friends made the trip to Lincolnshire.

Basketball notes:

Close call: Warren's Matt Fout had a different look when he returned for the second half against North Chicago. He was minus a "Go-T". "We have a rule of no facial hair. That's why he sat the first half," Warren Coach Darrel Bader said. Warren won a thriller, 77-74 in overtime.

Warren finished 17-9 on the year, but the 'Devils were all but given up for at 4-7. "The win over us (74-69) started them on their streak (nine-in-a-row)," Libertyville Coach Max Sanders said. "Darrel (Bader, Warren's Coach) took those kids a long way."

Maple is thankful for the revival of fan interest in basketball. "Attendance started to pick up started last year with a poor 7-19 team," Maple said. It was indeed nice to see the gyms packed in Fox Lake this year. Expect to see more of the same: the sophomores were second in the NWSC behind Johnsburg and finished 16-8 overall; the freshmen won the conference with a 12-3 record, 19-5 overall. There were plenty of accolades to hand out at Wednesday's awards night.

Sanders and Grant's Maple will be deans of area coaches next fall after Bader retires after 17 years at Warren. The sports types in Gurnee were waiting with baited breath if it would be assistant Len Chimino or sophomore coach Chuck Ramsey as Bader's replacement. I am glad I do not have to make that call, it would make a block or charge call look easy.

'Say, buddy': Maybe next year, I'll bring my binoculars to the Stevenson sectional. Twenty rows of bleachers have been added, giving the place next to the back row a "Bob Uecker feel".

gyms in Fox Lake as the team went on to shoot 40 percent from three-point land.

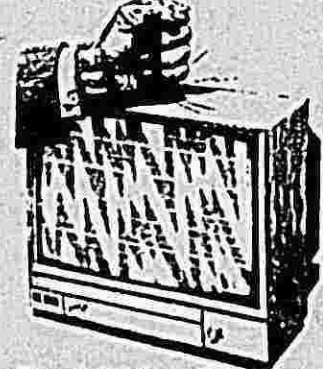

Senior Jody Burr canned 11 of 15 treys as he advanced to sectional play in the three-point shooting competition held at Stevenson High.

"He did not get as much floor time as he was injured in the first half of the season. But as he got more meaningful floor time, his skills showed, especially against a zone. He was an instant insertion into the offense," Maple said.

Burr finished 10-for-22 from three-point land for the regular season.

"I was nervous until I hit my first shot,"

Mundelein's gymnasts in top form for opening test

According to the Mundelein High School spring sports composite calendar, the state boys gymnastics meet is two months away.

But according to Niles West and Hersey, Mustangs are an early favorite to not only make it to state, but get back to the level of back-to-back titles.

Mundelein opened the season with a 150.8 score at Niles West, far outdistancing a 121.3 from Niles West and a 104.5 by Hersey.

The Mustangs were led by senior John Wasik, but Coach Doug Foerch believes depth will be the team's key asset.

"We could field three teams that could make it to state. We have 10 guys on the all-around. Most teams only have three," Foerch said.

The Mustangs also have an element which they simply did not have last year - seniors.

Mundelein hosts Glenbrook North at 6:30 p.m. March 16.

Foerch was pleased with the score for opening day, three points higher than Mundelein's best last year, 147 at the state meet.

"The kids did an incredible amount of work in the off-season. Four hours a day, six days a week. We did not go to Prairie State Games, so it was all workouts," Foerch said.

Wasik won the pommel horse, still rings, parallel bars, high bar, all-around and vault. And he is expected to get better.

"It was not a good meet for him. His score will get much higher in the future," Foerch said.

Wasik had an 8.95 in the floor exercise, beating Dave Masciola of Hersey's 8.3 and teammate Jamie Loizeaux's 8.2.

Wasik had an 8.9 for first in the pommel horse. Teammates Jose Salazar, a junior, with an 8.2 and Andy Bade, a senior, with a 7.7, were second and third, respectively.

Bade was second in the still rings to Josh Resnik of Niles West with an 8.4. Ray Gardecki of Mundelein had an 8.3

Wasik's 9.0 in the vault bested teammate Alex Mrazek, who had an 8.5 and Loizeaux and Mike Strachn, of MHS, had an 8.3.

Wasik had a 9.1 in the parallel bars first first; Gradecki an 8.5 and Bade an 8.1.

Wasik's score in the high bar was 8.7. Gradecki had an 8.4 and Bade a 7.3.

Wasik's total in the all-around was 52.81. Bade was second with a 47.5.

'Cats wear regional crown

The Libertyville boys basketball team is technically known as the Wildcats, of course. That's the Orange and Black team over there on Route 176. The team which earned the area is first Elite Eight bid in eight years two years ago.

But wait. In some respects, the Wildcats were the Foxes the last game, outlasting Lake Forest 60-51 and winning a regional title.

"When we played them in the last regular-season game, we held back a few new wrinkles for the tournament," Libertyville Coach Max Sanders said.

Matt Heldman, as usual, led the way as Libertyville earned a spot opposite Stevenson in the Stevenson sectional semi-final Wednesday. Mundelein, 56-53 upset winners over Waukegan Tuesday, awaits the Libertyville-Stevenson winner in the sectional final March 12 at 7:30 p.m. in Lincolnshire.

his season average of 22 points a game, with 33.

"Matt had a great game," Sanders said.

When the Scouts were overplaying Heldman on defense, the Wildcats quickly outfoxed that defense. Sean Devine was the recipient of that strategy, scoring 15 points.

Ozga helps Millikin

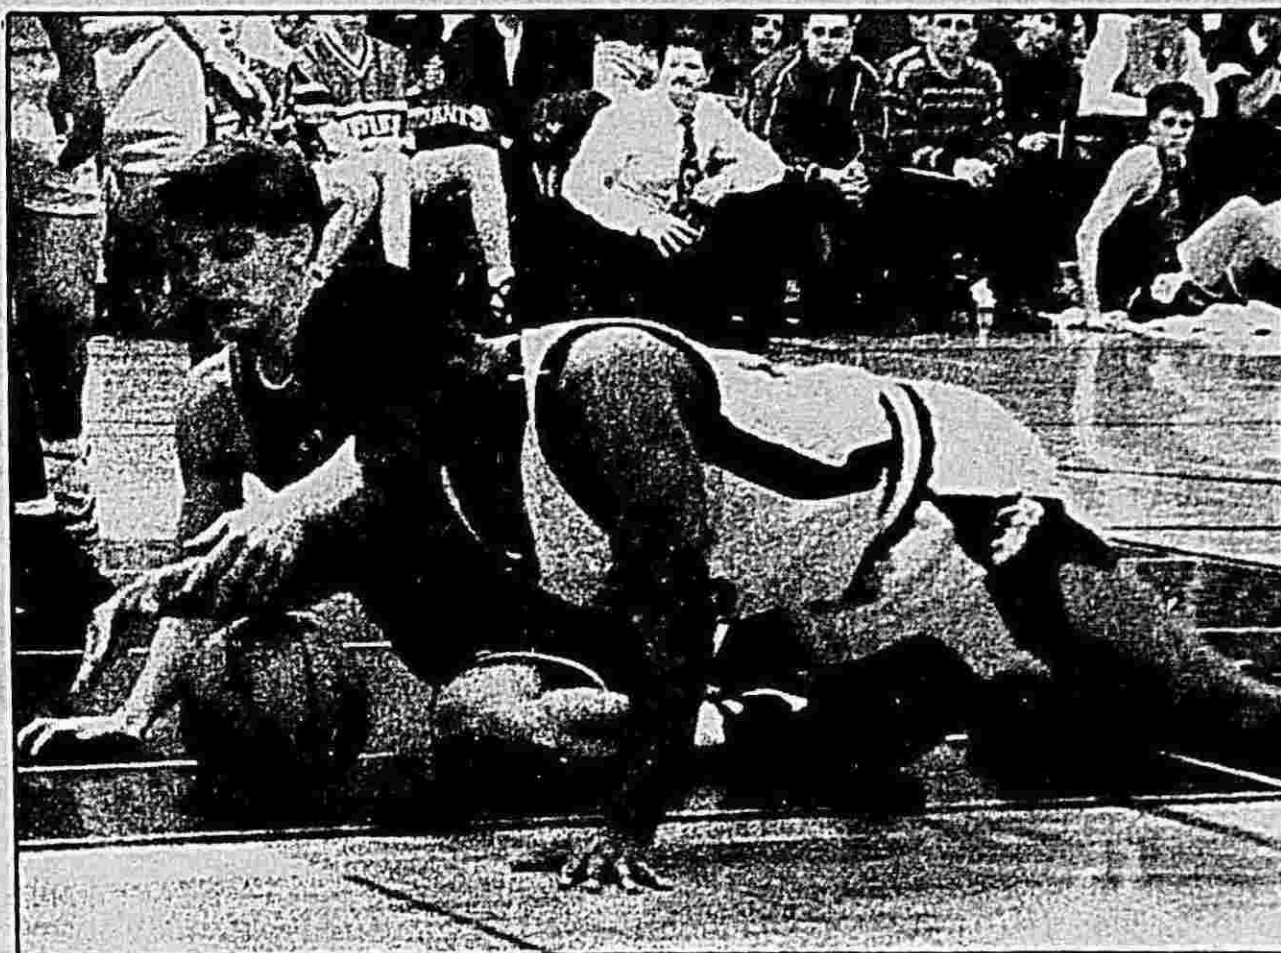

Millikin University sophomore Sue Ozga scored a collegiate career-high 14 points in the Big Blue's 82-38 win over Rockford College.

Ozga connected on six of 11 field goal attempts, including two of three from three-point range, and added two rebounds, two assists and a steal. She was Millikin University's leading scorer.

Millikin improved to 18-6 overall with the win.

Ozga was all North Suburban Conference while at Antioch. The National Honor Society member and 1991 ACHS graduate is a nursing major at the Decatur school. She is the daughter of William and Sally Ozga of Antioch.

Mustangs all know right formula for a major upset

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

It is a formula worth noting for any future basketball teams.

Start with a dose of self-respect. Win a few games, finish in a tie for second in the conference, and you have area respect. But in the same time, keep on dreaming.

"When the sectional started, no one voted us to win," Mundelein's Gerald Coleman said. "Now, everyone is."

Maybe not everyone, the people in Libertyville and Stevenson had their say Wednesday, but the Mustangs (20-8) certainly were riding the post-season Cinderella momentum following the 56-53 upset of Waukegan. The Mustangs are now in the enviable position of waiting its foe in the March 12 sectional final.

Coleman hit his final and most important point of the night - a free throw with 16 seconds left. Thad Miller then grabbed his sixth and most important defensive rebound and it was time for MHS fans to storm the Stevenson court.

"We won a few games, then we got some respect. I told the kids, 'we're too nice. We need to develop a little chip on our shoulder. Not play recklessly, but have a chip on our shoulder,'" an elated Mundelein Coach Dennis Kessel said.

There were obviously plenty of kudos to go around, to Kyle Kessel (17 points) and his ball-handling ability to Miller and his banging with the much bigger Waukegan players and to Brian McMahon, a sophomore transfer described as the link MHS needed.

"Miller did a nice job on Emmanuel Stutts (eight points). We did not want him (Stutts) to go to his left, and I don't think he went to his left all night," Coach Kessel said.

"My role was to stop Stutts. If we could do that, we could win," Miller said. "Having Brian helps a lot. They can't front you and if they do, you have help."

"We weren't scared of them as much as you guys (the media) were," Kyle Kessel said. "We watched the video tape of their Highland Park, Grayslake and Carmel games," Kyle Kessel said.

Justus(ice) served for Pats

The Warren-Stevenson regional basketball title game was still in doubt.

With Stevenson trailing by one at the end of the first half, Jason Justus then took over. As a first-row fan waved the placard "Justus Shall be Served," the senior scored two critical end of the first half hoops en route to 17 points as the Patriots won going away, 78-65.

Warren tried to get the ball into Brandon Schild in the second quarter and did, trailing by three with 3:56 left. But a 9-4 run at the end of the third and a 10-3 spurt ended the 17-year run for Warren Coach Darrel Bader.

Libertyville and Stevenson squared off Wednesday for the right to face Mundelein, 56-53 upset winners over Waukegan, in the sectional final March 12 at 7:30 p.m.

Mark Finn came off a sprained ankle to contribute 11 points, all from the free-throw line. Chad Pohlman was the go-to player early and finished with 11 points. Jerome Novaso added seven-of-eight free-throws.

"With all the injuries we have had, I am thrilled we have been able to come together," Johnson said.

The Patriots' Kenyon Catchings received a standing ovation from the nearly filled Stevenson side of the gym when he came into the game in the second quarter. His presence was more inspirational, as was the case in the regional opening 88-56 win over Grant.

Catchings scored 12.

Easing Your Tax Burden

Check status of refund checks using automated lines

By now many people have already filed their 1992 tax returns and are patiently waiting for their refund.

If it has been at least eight weeks since you mailed your return to the IRS, you can check on the status of your refund by calling the automated refund lines. Many people ask why they have to wait eight weeks before calling.

The Kansas City Service Center, where Illinois returns are processed, receives over 2 million returns during the filing season. The service center receives about 800,000 returns weekly in February and over 1,000,000 weekly during March. About 40 percent of all returns arrive during April, including nearly 4,000,000 the last week of the filing season.

After returns are sorted, information must be manually input into computers and checked for accuracy. Approximately 25 different people handle returns during processing. In February, you usually receive your refund four or five weeks after you file. In March, the time increases to six weeks, and in April you have to wait about eight weeks.

So, if you have not received your refund eight weeks after filing, you can call the automated refund lines at (312)886-9614. From touchtone phones, they can be reached weekdays from 7 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. Rotary dial phones can be used weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Be sure to have a copy of your tax return available because the computer will ask you for certain information. (And don't forget to keep a copy of your return even after you get your refund.)

You will receive one of several messages telling you the status of your tax return, ranging from the fact that it has been received to the date your check is scheduled to be mailed out. If there is a problem, you will be told to call our assistance lines.

Unless there is a problem, the automated refund system will be the only way you can check on your refund until after April 15. The IRS needs to keep regular assistance lines open for tax questions from those who have not yet filed.

The best time to call is late in the week as the computer program is updated once a week, on Wednesdays. Checks are mailed on Fridays, and, depending on the mail service, you normally should have your check by mid-week. If you move, complete a post office change of address card and your check will be forwarded.

If your check is returned to the IRS as undeliverable, they can replace it in six to eight weeks. However, if it has been stolen and cashed, it could take as long as a year to complete the investigation and issue a new check.

As it gets closer to the filing deadline, it usually takes eight weeks before you get your refund. However, by using electronic filing and having your refund check deposited directly into your bank account, that time frame can be cut to three to four weeks. The direct deposit feature is perhaps the biggest advantage of using electronic filing.
